

JUNIATA

College Bulletin

1999

Vol. 1 No. 1

Kennedy Center American College Theater Festival-XXXI Region II • Juniata College

Dear Friends,

By the time this issue of the College Bulletin reaches you, our April 10 inauguration celebration will be but a memory. Rest assured, however, that a full report of this incredible weekend on College Hill will appear in the magazine's next edition. Our coverage will include color photos and personal accounts of those who took part in the celebration.

In the next edition, you also will read about the life of a most extraordinary member of the Juniata family, William J. von Liebig. Mr. von Liebig died on February 21 within weeks of finalizing the largest gift in the College's history.

William J. von Liebig
1923-1999

Mr. von Liebig's commitment to Juniata provides the majority of funding needed to construct a new science facility to house our biology and chemistry programs. Mr. von Liebig honored this institution by demonstrating his support of our mission. We will honor his life and his memory by naming the facility The William J. von Liebig Center for Science.

As you read this issue, we are making final preparations for Commencement 1999. This will be the 120th graduating class and the first of my presidency. From those first three graduates sent into the world by President James Quinter in 1879, the College has provided an educational experience where preparation for a successful life is as vital as preparation for a successful career. This year over 250 students will enter the world as Juniata graduates.

Everyone associated with the College should feel a sense of pride in what has been accomplished here. In their lives and careers, our graduates continue to excel and they correctly attribute much of their success to their undergraduate experience at Juniata College. They demonstrate the value of the Juniata degree in a tangible way by offering support to future generations of Juniata students, and, in so doing, they strengthen their alma mater and add value to their own degree.

To William J. von Liebig and the many others of you who support our students and faculty each year, I say thank you and I offer my sincere congratulations to the members of the Class of 1999.

Sincerely,

Thomas R. Kepple, Jr.
College President

Volunteers Give Juniata Vitality

Whether it is students or alumni, faculty or staff, Juniata has a penchant for volunteer service. Read about just eight of the many examples of Juniata's volunteering.

2

6-7

Spotlight on Sociology & Habitat for Humanity

The wide range of experiences open to sociology students provides opportunities to work with other students, faculty, and professionals in many agencies serving the public.

Brazil's Good Student Project

Six Brazilian students between the ages of 16 and 18, along with their academic mentor and chaperon, Marcia Frigotto, participated in a seven-week academic program at Juniata.

10

12

Juniata Hosts Theater Festival

College and university theater departments from six regional states and the District of Columbia were on campus. In all, 800 visiting theater personnel congregated at Juniata. The festival featured five fully staged productions.

Scene from "Sled" performed by C. W. Post at the KC/ACTF

Campus Briefs 14

16 Sports News

Class Notes 18

25 The Book Store

class note
page 29

JUNIATA COLLEGE BULLETIN

David A. Gildea
Director of External Relations and Marketing

Michael V. Emery
Staff Writer

Bub Parker '91
Sports Information
Director

Rosann Brown
Publications
Coordinator/Graphic Designer

Brenda R. Roll
Marketing Assistant

John S. Hille
Vice President for College Advancement
& Marketing

Lynanne M.
Schaeffer '83
Director of Alumni Development

Jane W. Croyle '95
Assistant Director of Alumni Development

Evelyn L.
Pembroke
Alumni Relations
Assistant

Juniata College Bulletin is published quarterly by Juniata College, Department of Advancement and Marketing. Distributed free of charge to alumni and friends of Juniata College. Postmaster and others, please send change-of-address correspondence to: Alumni Relations, 1700 Moore St., Huntingdon, PA 16652-2119. Juniata College Bulletin can accept no responsibility for unsolicited contributions of artwork, photography, or articles. Juniata College, as an educational institution and employer, values equality of opportunity and diversity. The College is an independent, privately supported co-educational institution committed to providing a liberal arts education to qualified students regardless of sex, race, color, religion, national origin, ancestry, marital status, sexual orientation, or disability. Its policies comply with requirements of Title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IV of the Education Amendments of 1972, and all other applicable federal, state and local statutes, regulations and guidelines. We welcome letters from readers. Write to us at: Juniata College Bulletin, 1700 Moore St. Huntingdon, PA 16652-2119 or e-mail us at gilddead@juniata.edu. Letters to the editor will be considered for publication when the writer includes name, address and daytime telephone number. We publish the letter writer's name; addresses are not printed. Letters may be edited for clarity and length.

VOLUNTEERS

Give Juniata

ITALITY

In Truth Sets Free, his 1976 book commemorating Juniata College's centennial, author Earl C. Kaylor, Jr. wrote of a bedrock Brethren belief in supportive human relationships. Essentially, the Brethren foster the idea of helping others. Its Brethren founders interwove that belief into the fabric of a Juniata education.

Throughout its 123-year history, Juniata has also emphasized the value of a liberal arts education. Beyond providing the best possible career training, Juniata's founders wanted the liberal arts curriculum to instill a belief that skilled, knowledgeable people should make contributions to the total community.

Perhaps it is those tenets of education set forth by Juniata's Brethren influence and liberal arts curriculum that have implanted throughout the Juniata community such a conscientious aptitude for helping others. Nowhere is this more evident than in the number of volunteer service endeavors that people in the Juniata community have made over the years.

Whether it is students or alumni, faculty or staff, Juniatians have a penchant for volunteer service. That kind of volunteer commitment is needed not only for the continued success of Juniata, but also for the betterment of the societies of which Juniatians are a part. With that in mind, we cite the following examples of how Juniatians can volunteer their services to help others as well as the College. These are by no means the only examples of how Juniatians can volunteer their services; just eight good examples of Juniatians volunteering their time to help others.

Leadership Volunteers

Among the most prominent volunteers at Juniata are those who can collectively be called "leadership volunteers:" trustees; trustees council members; members of the Church College Relations Council and Alumni Council; as well as other leadership committees. These volunteers shape the very structure and character of the College: upholding its tradition and heritage; forging its future from the foundation of its past.

Ron Seiler, Class of 1977, is one such volunteer. A fixture on the Juniata Alumni Council from 1993 through 1998, which included serving as Alumni Council president during the 1996-97 academic year, Ron has been a high-profile leadership volunteer. He continues that role this year by serving as the volunteer chair for the Juniata Fund.

"What I enjoy about the whole experience of volunteering in a leadership role is the connection that it enables me to have with the entire College community," Ron said. "We interact with current students and faculty as well as emeriti and alumni. It has been a real learning experience. I have learned the ins and outs of the College, not just today but throughout its history. It has enabled me to gain a real appreciation for Juniata."

The main objective of the Alumni Council is to foster communication between those who currently attend or work at the College and Juniata alumni. "We serve as a conduit of information from the College to the alumni and vice versa," Ron said.

Darwin Kysor (left), director of career services, coordinates Juniata's Alumni Career Team by putting current Juniata students in touch with alumni volunteers who can provide career advice and information as well as internships and job opportunities.

The purpose of the Church College Relations Council (CCRC) is to affirm the historical relationship between Juniata and the Church of the Brethren. That relationship dates back to the founding of the College in 1876 when John Brumbaugh, Henry Brumbaugh, and Dr. Andrew Brumbaugh supported Jacob Zuck in opening the College.

CCRC promotes a Church of the Brethren presence on campus, relates College personnel and students to the Church of the Brethren, and supports campus ministry and other College efforts to nurture the spiritual life. Among the CCRC events at Juniata during the Spring 1999 semester were an Eastern Regional Youth Conference (March 6-7) and a series of activities for Brethren Heritage Week (March 19-27).

The Juniata board of trustees is the constitutional governing body of the College. John McN. Cramer '63 is the current board of trustees chair, while William Hershberger '57 serves as vice chair, Henry Gibbel '57 is the treasurer, William Alexander '66 is the assistant treasurer, and Thomas Pheasant '66 is the secretary.

The board of trustees is responsible for policy and financial oversight of the College. That includes issues involving administration, faculty, staff, development and economic affairs, academic affairs, public affairs, budget and finance, planning, and construction.

Brethren Volunteer Service (BVS)

Amidst the squalor of one of downtown San Antonio's seedier sides lies a sanctuary of sorts — a shelter for needy families that doubles as a soup kitchen for the hungry throughout the neighborhood community.

The shelter also serves as the temporary living quarters for 1998 Juniata graduate Kelli O'Harrow and all her fellow Brethren Volunteer Service (BVS) workers. The BVS shelter serves as a respite for homeless families that need time to earn money, pay off debts, find homes, and otherwise get their lives squared away.

After a three-week orientation program, Kelli moved to the BVS shelter deep in the heart of Texas on October 12. She has made a yearlong commitment to remain there, helping the needy.

"We try to meet all the needs of those who live in the shelter until they can get out on their own," Kelli said. "We offer families a place to live. We do a lot of cooking, not only for the families living here, but also for the soup kitchen which we run four days a week for anyone in the area who is hungry and in need of food.

"It's a lot of work, but it's rewarding," she added. "The families and all the people who come to us have been through difficult times or find themselves in tough situations or circumstances. The experience of helping them is very gratifying."

Founded in 1948, BVS operates volunteer services to the needy throughout the world. Volunteers bring hope to shattered lives, offer food and shelter to those in need, and build understanding between individuals, groups, nations, humanity, and the world we share.

ACT volunteers

Jennifer Dillman '99 has career aspirations in scientific research. She became convinced of that after serving a comprehensive internship at the renowned National Institutes of Health (NIH).

"I saw the full picture of a career in research," she said of her NIH internship. "It was my first exposure to experimental research and it was an unbelievably invaluable experience to be involved in the research that I was working on alongside so many top-notch experts in the field."

Jennifer was able to get such an incredible internship experience thanks to Juniata graduate Jack Greiner '70, who heads the Experimental Oncology Section (EOS) at NIH and who also volunteers for Juniata's Alumni Career Team (ACT).

ACT is marketed to students as "a networking tool designed for your future." One of the most valuable resources to anyone looking for a job or considering a career change is having a network of persons who might be able to provide career advice, job leads, internships, introductions, or other assistance.

ACT volunteers provide information, advice, and opportunities about careers, serving current Juniata students as well as alumni

"The families and all the people who come to us have been through difficult times or find themselves in tough situations or circumstances. The experience of helping them is very gratifying."

—Kelli O'Harrow '98

I loved my college days and I like reconnecting with my classmates."

-Ty Furman '90, Class Fund Agent

"I especially get a kick out of talking to the young kids about Juniata and the bright future that the College offers to students."

facing career shifts or job changes.

Volunteers are listed on a database that is accessible on Juniata's Intranet. Students and alumni can then research the ACT volunteers by their occupation, industry, graduation date, advanced degrees, and even city or state. If and when they receive calls, ACT volunteers provide assistance for Juniata students and alumni.

"I'm very pleased with the way this experience worked out for everyone," Greiner said. "It was mutually beneficial. Jennifer was a very good summer student, a real benefit to us. We hire a number of interns, most of them from the Washington, D.C. area. Some survive and some don't. Jennifer is definitely a survivor. She showed real enthusiasm and aptitude for this type of work."

Class Fund Agents

From the time he strode the Juniata campus as a student, Ty Furman has always been a visible figure from the Class of '90. His circle of friends and acquaintances included those from every group on campus.

"I knew, or at least was familiar with almost everyone in my class," he said. His popularity among classmates made Ty the perfect choice to be the Class of '90 class fund agent. As class fund agent, Ty writes letters to all his former classmates on behalf of Juniata. It is his job to put a familiar face on an important appeal from the College for its annual fundraising efforts.

"I loved my college days," he said, "and I like reconnecting with my classmates. "I try not to be a pest about asking my friends to make donations," he added. "Writing the letters to all of them brings back a lot of fond memories that I have for the time I spent at Juniata. If my classmates share some of those same memories and are in a position to support the College with their donations so that others can have those same kinds of experiences, then I am happy to make that appeal for Juniata."

Several other Juniata class fund agents expressed those same sentiments. Janet Dodge, class fund agent for the Class of '55, said her letters to classmates "is like doing Christmas cards. It brings back reflections of those who mean so much to me."

Hazel Fluke, class fund agent for the Class of '45, said being a class fund agent has helped revive some of her college friendships. Holly Niemeyer, class fund agent for the Class of '94, was a student worker in the development office all four years that she was a Juniata student. "There, I saw that current students benefit from the generous alumni who came before them," she wrote in a recent letter. "I am a class fund agent because of how someone else's generosity helped me to fund my education."

Ada Reber Gingrich, class fund agent for the Class of '36, also summed up her reasons for volunteering in a recent letter. "Juniata opened a new world of ideas and experiences, of establishing nurturing and lasting friendships, being mentored by challenging, involved faculty members. That still holds," she wrote. "Now the opportunity to serve as a class fund agent is one way to show my appreciation to all who have made that possible."

Juniata Admissions Volunteers (JAV)

Orville Dore has the look of a salesman, the talk of a salesman, and that recognizable high-energy pitch of a salesman. But Orville, a 1949 Juniata graduate, is not your typical salesman.

Falling into his salesman persona, Orville stepped to the microphone at last October's Donors' Appreciation Dinner during Homecoming Weekend and gave the briefest yet, perhaps, most poignant speech of the night. "I don't sell cars. I don't sell insurance. I sell Juniata," he began.

For the past 14 years, Orville has served as a Juniata Admissions Volunteer (JAV), selling Juniata to prospective students at college fairs and college night events from places like Portland, Maine to Dayton, Ohio and all points in between. He travels 4,000 to 5,000 miles a year as a JAV.

"In order to do what I do as a volunteer, you have to enjoy meeting and talking to people," Orville said, "and you have to enjoy traveling. I enjoy all of it. I always say that I get more out of it than the College does. I especially get a kick out of talking to the young kids about Juniata and the bright future that the College offers to students. I sell Juniata as an academic institution. I tell the kids, 'You might be able to do as well as Juniata somewhere else, but you can't do better than Juniata.'"

Guest lecturers

A 1981 Juniata graduate, Dr. John Kuriyan holds positions as the Patrick E. and Beatrice M. Haggerty Professor of molecular biophysics at The Rockefeller University in New York City and investigator of structural biology at the Howard Hughes Medical Institute. His current research recently earned him the prestigious Eli Lilly Award of the American Chemical Society.

John returned to Juniata in September 1998 as a volunteer guest lecturer. He dis-kick out of talking about Juniata and that the College cs.” —Orville Dore '49

Junior Nate Verrelli is a pitcher on the 1999 Juniata
College baseball team.

cussed his research in a two-day, four-lecture series titled “Darwin and DaVinci in the Molecules of Life: Understanding the Molecular Basis of Cancer,” which marked Juniata’s first annual Delbert McQuaide Lectureship Series.

In addition to an opening night lecture designed to give a general audience an understanding of the importance of research at the molecular level, John also presented three more detailed lectures to classes at Juniata. Using cancer research as his ‘case study,’ he later presented parts of this same lecture to major private and corporate donors at The Rockefeller University, making his presentation at Juniata a unique opportunity to witness at least one way that science policy and public policy are influenced.

John is one of many volunteer guest lecturers that Juniata faculty members utilize to provide expert insight into various professional fields.

Reunion coordinators

A Juniata College graduate and a member of the Juniata faculty and administration for over 30 years, Wilfred Norris has seen many classes come and go during his time at the College. But, the Class of ‘54 holds a special place in his heart. The Class of ‘54, of course, is his class.

“We were somewhat cohesive,” Wilfred remembers, “and we had a lot of class pride.”

That class pride is evident throughout the senior class profile in the ‘54 Juniata College Alfarata. Among the noted accomplishments in the yearbook was the senior class victory in the 1953-54 All-Class Night: “After three years of ‘almost won,’ ... the coveted All-Class Night Cup was ours.”

The Class of ‘54 profile concludes with the quote, “We have crossed the bay, the ocean lies before us.” And posed within the profile is the inevitable question that can be asked of every graduating class, “Where will five, ten, or twenty-five years find us scattered?”

Now 45 years later, Wilfred is attempting to reunite his class so classmates can reminisce as well as discuss their personal journeys across that ocean that was before them all in 1954.

Wilfred volunteered as a reunion coordinator for Juniata’s 1999 Alumni Weekend. He, Wilda Eberly, Sam Brumbaugh, Helen Stutzman Hollinger, and Sue Mullendore Freed’ all volunteered to form a reunion committee for the Class of ‘54. For almost a year, the Class of ‘54 reunion volunteers have sent letters to their classmates, asking them to return to the Juniata campus for the 1999 Alumni Weekend as well as planning the activities for the weekend.

“I have maintained contact with a number of my classmates over the years, so the experience of volunteering as a reunion coordinator has helped maintain those relationships as well as renew others,” Wilfred said.

Reunion coordinators are an invaluable source of help for Juniata’s Alumni Office. “The reunion coordinators determine the success of their classes reunions,” said Lynanne Schaeffer, Juniata director of alumni development. “The more involved the reunion coordinators are in regard to contacting their classmates, the better the class attendance is for the reunion; so they are crucial, they are key, they are fundamental to all of our Alumni Weekends.”

Volunteer coaches

In 1969, Craig Eisenhart was an outfielder on the first baseball team that Bill Berrier managed at Juniata College. In 1999, he will mark his 12th year

as a volunteer
assistant coach in

Berrier’s 30th season as Juniata’s manager.

“It’s been a great way to stay connected to the program,” Craig said of his coaching experience. “I love it, and I’m glad to do it on a volunteer basis.”

Juniata baseball has been a part of the Eisenhart family since the early 1940s when Craig’s father, Hank, was a three-year letter-winner on the team. After graduating from Juniata in 1944, Hank Eisenhart went on to pitch in the Cincinnati Redlegs organization. Later, he became a well-known interscholastic baseball, basketball, and football official in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. He then returned to Juniata as an assistant baseball coach before his death in 1987. In commemoration of his contribution to the baseball program, both as a player and coach, Juniata formally dedicated its batting cage as “The Eisenhart Batting Cage” during ceremonies in 1996.

A 1970 Juniata graduate, Craig returned to the Juniata baseball diamond for sentimental reasons the season after his father’s death, and the experience was so enjoyable that he has remained ever since. A dentist in Huntingdon since 1974, Craig travels with the team on its annual trip to the South to start the season and is able to travel to about one-third of the team’s remaining away games during the season.

“In my first year as a volunteer coach I pitched batting practice,” Craig said, “and over the years I’ve taken on more and more responsibility. I look forward to it every season.” JC

Juniata's Social Science Research Benefits Area Agencies

In his social science research methods class at Juniata College, Dr. Duane Stroman puts students to work for the community. The projects that Dr. Stroman designs for his students help Huntingdon area human service agencies and programs to better fulfill their functions, while giving students a hands-on experience in serving the public.

Those who benefit from the classroom research projects are the people in the community who rely on human service agencies.

Social science research conducted in Dr. Stroman's class has benefited such social service organizations as a local child development agency, the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) program operated by the Southern Alleghenies Planning and Development Commission, and the Penn State Rural Nursing Project.

In addition, past classroom research projects from Dr. Stroman's classes have resulted in finding a need for an abuse shelter and adult day care in the Huntingdon area. The data indicating the need for adult day care has led one agency to begin looking into possible sites for such a center.

"The students' work directly affects people's lives, and that's why we do it," Dr. Stroman said. "The students get real hands-on experience in a project that benefits people."

One example of how the classroom projects can help social service agencies evaluate their programs was recent work that was conducted for the Huntingdon County United Way. The students' research led the Huntingdon County United Way to create a new public awareness plan to reach people who had retired. The students found that the majority of people who donate money to the United Way do so through their place of employment.

When people retired, the United Way was no longer soliciting those people for donations, and many of those retirees had been regular donors during their days of employment. The United Way has now developed a whole new program to reach retirees based on the research information that Dr. Stroman's class provided.

"Our class does the research that finds the need for certain programs, then the agencies or public officials take the data and start developing the programs," Dr. Stroman said.

Dr. Stroman's classroom projects reflect the overall philosophy of Juniata's sociology department, where all faculty members carefully incorporate specialized learning experiences into the curriculum. In addition to research projects at local social service agencies, students taking sociology courses at Juniata participate in case studies, labs, practicums, role playing exercises, and simulations.

The wide range of experiences open to sociology students provide opportunities to work with other students, faculty, and professionals in many agencies serving the public. This enables students to work in cooperative efforts to investigate and offer solutions to real community needs.

The latest program added to Juniata's sociology department is criminal justice, headed by Dr. Lizabeth Wiinamaki. The criminal justice program was added to Juniata's sociology department in the 1997-98 school year.

Dr. Wiinamaki also makes public service participation an important element of her classes. Her students serve internships at the two Huntingdon state correction facilities as well as local police departments, sheriff departments, probation offices, law offices, and even the Pennsylvania State Game Commission.

"The opportunities for internships at several area locations has been a real marketable component for us," Dr. Wiinamaki said. "The field experience is outstanding, and the internships sometimes lead to jobs."

Dr. Duane Stroman, professor of sociology, puts students to work for the community.

Dr. Lizabeth Ann Wiinamaki, assistant professor of criminal justice and social work, makes public service participation an important element of her classroom.

Juniata's Habitat For Humanity Builds For A Better Tomorrow, And Jimmy Carter Says

THANKS.

When former President Jimmy Carter recognizes the volunteer efforts of a group or organization, people take notice. Carter volunteers much of his time and energy to humanitarian efforts, and Habitat for Humanity is one of the organizations closest to his heart.

So, when the former president wrote a letter saluting the Juniata College chapter of Habitat for Humanity for all of its work this academic year, the group received his recognition with pride.

"It was quite an honor to receive a letter from President Carter," said Irene Mulvihill, a senior from Holbrook, N.Y. and president of the Juniata chapter of Habitat for Humanity. "It's an honor and recognition that the Juniata Habitat for Humanity will always cherish."

The letter from former President Carter came after one of the many volunteer efforts that the Juniata chapter of Habitat for Humanity participated in during this academic year. A group of Juniata Habitat for Humanity members traveled to Columbus, Georgia in March to participate in "Collegiate Challenge: Spring Break '99." During spring break, while most college students visited either the beach or friends at home, several Juniata Habitat for Humanity members traveled to Georgia to spend a week helping to build a nice, affordable house for a family in need.

"When we arrived, there was just a concrete slab that served as the foundation of the house," Ms. Mulvihill said. "When we left, we locked the front door behind us. We had helped build the entire house during the week that we were there."

In its 22nd year, Habitat for Humanity International is a non-profit, ecumenical Christian organization dedicated to eliminating poverty housing worldwide. Habitat for Humanity works in partnership with people in need to build simple, decent, affordable houses. The houses are then sold to the partner families at no profit, through no-interest loans. To date, the organization has built over 60,000 homes worldwide.

The campus chapters and youth programs department was formed in 1987 and has provided thousands of students with opportunities to become a significant part of Habitat for Humanity's work.

The Juniata Habitat for Humanity crusade in Georgia in March received front-page coverage in the Columbus Ledger-Enquirer as well as a spot on the WTVM-TV Channel 9 newscast. On the way home, the Juniata Habitat for Humanity members passed through Plains, Georgia, home of former President Carter, and they dropped him a line. They thanked him for serving as an example and inspiration to them and others who volunteer. They invited him to visit Juniata College on his next fishing expedition to Pennsylvania. And they explained the many volunteer efforts that the Juniata chapter of Habitat for Humanity participated in this academic year.

In addition to "Collegiate Challenge: Spring Break '99," the volunteer efforts mentioned in the letter to former President Carter that the Juniata Habitat for Humanity has participated in since last September were:

- Two major local housing projects during the fall semester, helping to build one house in Mount Union and another in Huntingdon;
- A fundraising event in which a two-story Victorian dollhouse built and donated by Juniata graduate Jack Buckle '42 was auctioned off during Juniata's 1998-99 Family Weekend and Homecoming events, raising $153 before Juniata sophomore Laurel Dziuk won the raffle;

- Another fundraiser called "Hire a Habiter," which involved club members performing jobs such as washing windows, sealing driveways, repairing desks, and doing yard work to raise almost $1,000 during the fall semester;
- The fourth annual "Shackathon," which involved club members camping outside on the Tussey and Terrace patio and lawn in cardboard boxes during a cold January night to raise awareness of the homeless problem as well as to raise money from sponsors to help alleviate the problem.

"It has been an amazing year in regard to everything we've been able to accomplish," Ms. Mulvihill said. "Everyone grows a lot through all of the experiences. It's not just the Habitaters working with those in need, but students working with faculty and staff members to help those in need; and students and faculty and staff members establishing newfound relationships through programs like 'Hire A Habitater.' The people who participate in 'Hire A Habiter' really love it, because it enables them to finish projects that they don't have time to even get to otherwise."

From a financial standpoint, the Juniata chapter of Habitat for Humanity has never been on more solid ground. "Two years ago, when I was the club treasurer, we raised $1,000 during the school year," Ms. Mulvihill said. "This year we've exceeded that by six. We've raised $6,000 for Habitat for Humanity projects. That's a significant contribution for a very worthwhile volunteer cause."

Former President Carter was so impressed with the club's volunteer efforts that he quickly sent a return letter to Juniata's Habitat for Humanity thanking the group for its work.

"What I expected to be a sacrifice turned out to be one of the greatest blessings of my life."

*—Jimmy Carter
Former President of the US*

JoAnn deArmas Wallace

JoAnn deArmas Wallace has been selected to serve as Juniata's first dean of international programs. She will succeed David Sowell as the head of the International Programs Office (IPO). Dr. Sowell, who has held the post as director of international programs at Juniata since 1996, will return to his position as associate professor of history.

"The growth of our international programs has been significant in recent years under the direction of David Sowell, who has done an outstanding job as head of the IPO," said Juniata Provost Jim Lakso. "In fact, David has helped build our international programs to the point where we felt the need to hire a full-time dean to continue our growing commitment to internationalization."

Juniata President Thomas R. Kepple Jr. said that "JoAnn deArmas Wallace brings the experience and intelligent foresight that will enable our international programs to strengthen. She is extremely knowledgeable of international issues in higher education, and she has had great success in higher education management. I am delighted with the search committee's successful work, which has resulted in the appointment of an outstanding individual to lead Juniata's international programs in the years ahead."

Ms. Wallace brings to the dean's position a wealth of practical administrative and intercultural experience as well as proven skills in program development and student advising and recruiting. She has been serving as interim director of international education and off-campus programs at DePauw University in Greencastle, Indiana since January 1999. Prior to that, she worked for 10 years at Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio, where she served as director of Antioch College Education Abroad. She oversaw a highly successful study abroad operation in which she managed academic programs representing a wide variety of academic disciplines in Europe, Asia, and Latin America. She was also responsible for the financial management of Antioch's Study Abroad program. In addition, she hired, trained, and supervised, directly or indirectly, a large number of part-time and full-time American and host national faculty, coordinators, site managers, and other staff at sites around the world. She has worked with a broad range of institutions and organizations overseas in putting together the academic and experiential components of Antioch's study abroad offerings.

In addition, Ms. Wallace created highly successful and innovative short-term Intensive English programs for groups of faculty, community members, and students from Brazil, Cape Verde, and Japan as well as supervising foreign student advising at Antioch. She served as a field faculty member for students in the International and Intercultural Masters Degree programs of the McGregor School of Antioch University. She was active in both the writing and evaluation of grant proposals and also spent three years in college international admissions working in the field and on marketing planning.

Ms. Wallace is a regular presenter, writer, lecturer and workshop organizer on a broad range of topics. These include liability and international educational exchange, program models and site development, preparation of faculty leaders, women's issues in international education, and cross-cultural orientation. She served a term on NAFSA: The Association of International Educators' Committee on Diversity and was elected by the membership to a three-year term on the national governing team for SECUSSA, the study abroad section of the organization. She also served as the SECUSSA representative on the Committee on Ethical Practice.

As Juniata's new dean of international programs, Ms. Wallace will provide vision, leadership, and direction for promoting a further international dimension throughout the campus and the curriculum. The position involves development and administration in a variety of areas within international programs, including Juniata's Intensive English Programs, study abroad, international students, student recruitment, faculty and student exchange, visiting lecturers, INS regulations, and College policies. In addition, she will chair the International Educational Committee; plan, prepare, and administer annual budgets for IPO and oversee the development of the Intensive English Programs budget; develop new study abroad opportunities as appropriate; and stimulate campus-wide support for international initiatives.

Ms. Wallace will work closely with both domestic and international students, academic programs and departments, the registrar's office, the enrollment office, the office of student services, and the controller.

The selection of Ms. Wallace as dean continues Juniata's commitment to international programs, which includes the dedication of the new Oller Center for Peace and International Studies in April.

Over the last five years Juniata ranked 2nd among a group of top liberal arts colleges in Pennsylvania in the percentage of international students in its campus population. Currently, students represent 24 different countries.

Conference Commemorates Universal Declaration of Human Rights & Holocaust Memorial Museum

Andrew Murray,
professor of peace &
conflict studies,
director of Baker
Institute for Peace and Conflict Studies

Andrew Murray, director of the Baker Peace Institute at Juniata College, was invited to attend a special conference in honor of the 50th anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the fifth anniversary of the Holocaust Memorial Museum. The invitation-only conference was held in the Holocaust Memorial Museum in Washington, D.C. in December 1998.

The Committee on Conscience of the United States Holocaust Memorial Council hosted the conference on "Genocide and Crimes Against Humanity: Early Warning and Prevention." The conference opened with a keynote address by The Honorable Mary Robinson, United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights.

The United States Holocaust Memorial Council is the governing board of the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum. The mandate of the Council's Committee on Conscience was designed "to alert national conscience, influence policy makers, and stimulate worldwide action to confront and work to halt acts of genocide or related crimes against humanity." The committee related the experience of the Holocaust to contemporary realities by speaking out against these crimes wherever they may occur.

Participating in the conference were distinguished diplomats, policy makers, international judges, representatives of human rights organizations, military officers, government officials, and scholars. Also, Tina Rosenberg, who is on the editorial board of the New York Times, discussed the role of the media in terms of early warnings of crimes against humanity. In addition, Jerome Shestack, immediate past president of the American Bar Association, led discussions on international law.

"I was certainly pleased to be invited to participate in a conference of this magnitude and importance," Dr. Murray said. "It was an outstanding opportunity for me to experience how the international community confronts crimes against humanity."

The conference included several presentations, seminars, and discussions on crimes against humanity, focusing on places where such conduct currently exists, particularly Bosnia and Rwanda.

"They focused on what implications the lessons of the Holocaust have for contemporary crimes against humanity," Dr. Murray said.

Dr. Murray is a leader in the international development of the field of peace studies. He founded the Juniata Institute for Peace and Conflict Studies in 1985. He has led the Institute, named for the John C. and Elizabeth Evans Baker family in 1987, since its beginning. In 1988, he helped found the Peace Studies Association, an organization of more than 100 colleges and universities with peace studies programs and has been elected twice as chair of its board of directors.

In 1990, Dr. Murray was appointed to the United Nations/International Association of University Presidents Commission on Arms Control Education. As a member of the commission, he began the International Seminar on Arms Control and Disarmament. This seminar, sponsored jointly by Juniata College and the United Nations Center for Disarmament Affairs, has brought professors and military leaders from Mexico, Central America, Southern and West Africa, the Middle East, and South Asia to Juniata's campus for arms control and disarmament curriculum training.

"I was certainly pleased to be invited to participate in a conference of this magnitude and importance. They focused on what implications
the lessons of the Holocaust have for contemporary crimes against humanity."

—Dr. Andrew Murray

Dr. Murray also serves as a special consultant for a 10-nation United Nations peace-building initiative in West Africa and is working with the government of Mali to develop a national plan for peace education. He has served as a consultant for peace studies curriculum at more than a dozen colleges and universities throughout the United States.

Juniata Affiliates With Brazil's Good Student Project

The International Programs Office at Juniata continued to expand its horizons this spring, affiliating for the first time with a privately sponsored academic program to assist good students from low income families in Brazil.

Six Brazilian students between the ages of 16 and 18, along with their academic mentor and chaperon, Marcia Frigotto, participated in a seven-week academic program at Juniata. Through the program called the Good Student Project, the students took courses to improve their English skills, both speaking and writing. Two Brazilian businessmen sponsor the Good Student Project.

"This is a major program in Brazil, something that has received a lot of recognition for its humanitarian efforts to assist underprivileged the Juniata campus, they were confronted with a winter storm, which made their initial transition to America more difficult.

"The first couple of weeks were difficult, because we had to adjust to a whole new culture," Ms. Frigotto said. "In addition to the schooling, we had to adjust to the food, the water, the living arrangements, and the weather. Our first day here it was snowing and sleeting and we were sliding on slippery sidewalks. Our clothes were not suited to that kind of weather."

Four of the students and Ms. Frigotto resided on the Juniata campus during the seven-week program, while the two oldest students lived with host families in Huntingdon. Dimitra and James Curley and Sharon and James Bookhamer served as the two host families.

"Our two students living with host families adapted much easier than the 16-year-olds living on campus," Ms. Frigotto said. "The host families have been a great benefit to them. But, this experience has been an interesting experiment. We wanted to assess the experience during our first time at Juniata to make it even better in the future. First, I think the 16-year-olds are too young to adjust to the academic life in a culture so far from home. The first two weeks it was difficult for everyone, but the 18-year-olds adjusted better after the first two weeks. Also, seven weeks is not enough time. It takes a few weeks just to get adjusted to the culture and lifestyle. In the future, I would like to spend a whole semester at Juniata."

The Good Student Project originated in 1993, co-created by Brazilian businessmen Francisco Simeao Rodrigues Neto and Luiz Bonacin Filho. The project was designed to give good students from low-income families an opportunity to receive quality education from "The first couple of weeks were difficult, because we had to adjust to a whole new culture. In addition to the schooling, we had to adjust to the food, the water, the living arrangements, and the weather. Our first day here it was snowing and sleeting and we were sliding on slippery sidewalks. Our clothes were not suited to that kind of weather." —Marcia Frigotto, academic mentor and chaperon prestigious academic institutions. The final goal was to raise the students' standard of living and ensure a better and brighter future for their own families.

The Good Students Project, due to its exclusively humanitarian nature, is a private endeavor, not linked to any political or religious institutions. Its philosophy is to encourage students to strive for a solid academic experience regardless of family finances. The project helps students cover the cost of tuition, travel, and food at select colleges and universities in Brazil with the hopes of expanding the program in the future to include sending students to academic institutions throughout the world.

When students join the project, they must comply with certain requirements to remain in it. In addition to meeting academic requirements, each student agrees to sponsor two other students in the Good Students Project when he or she gains employment after graduation.

In a letter explaining the reasons for starting the Good Students Project, Francisco Simeao Rodrigues Neto wrote, "Although Brazil is a potentially rich country, endowed with vast natural resources, the overwhelming majority of its population is poor, deprived of the right to dream and hope for a better life. As we thought about the most impoverished portion of our population, that which lives under the worst conditions imaginable, we became ever more firmly convinced that our number one deficiency is lack of schooling and technical training. This has led us to the conviction that the surest way to correct the social distortions afflicting Brazil is to provide schooling and technical training for that social stratum which, today, simply has no access to a decent and respectable life."

JC

Prudence Ingerman, instructor for the Intensive English Program, directs classroom discussion with visiting Brazilian students.

students, and something that has become highly competitive because of its popularity," said Elizabeth Smolcic, director of the Intensive English Program at Juniata. "We're very pleased to be affiliated with the program, and we'd like to have a group of students from this program in Brazil come to Juniata College every year."

The students attended Juniata during their summer break in Brazil. When they arrived on

Juniata Quilts

This fall Juniata College students, faculty, and staff will come together to unveil the new sculpture titled "Juniata Quilts." The work was created by Peter Calaboyias, the Greek-born artist whose works can be seen at locations such as Centennial Park in Atlanta, the University of Chicago, and DePaul University. The work was commissioned through the generous contributions of former trustee Edwin Malloy and his wife, Susan Rabinowitz Malloy.

Günther Spaltmann Paintings Give Museum of Art Added Gusto

The Juniata College Museum of Art continues to add to its magnificent permanent collection through the recent acquisition of a German artists' extraordinary paintings.

In December 1998, the Museum acquired 51 paintings by Günther Spaltmann, whose works were shown in Germany in the 1970s. Spaltmann's style was influenced by major artistic developments of the early 20th century, such as cubism and expressionism.

"This is a wonderful addition to our permanent collection," said Nancy Siegel, curator of the Museum. "With its bold vibrancy and early 20th century styles, the Spaltmann Collection complements our Worth B. Stottlemeyer Collection and its range of art forms from the 17th through the 20th centuries."

Juniata acquired the Günther Spaltmann paintings as a result of a long-time friendship between the late artist and William Russey, Juniata's Charles A. Dana Professor of Chemistry. After Mr. Spaltmann passed away, Dr. Russey and a contingent of Juniata personnel inquired about the paintings. Mr. Spaltmann's close friend, Rosemarie Siebke, then generously donated 51 paintings to Juniata.

Günther Spaltmann, Verfolgt (Pursued), 1939, oil on paper on panel, 12 1/2 x 9 1/4"

Still the same after all these years.

Jane Miller Crosby '38, Mary Ruth Linton '38, and Harold Brumbaugh '33 "Mr. Juniata," were captured in this picture having a fun time at the Founders Day luncheon on April 17, 1999.

Juniata Hosts Prestigious Theater Festival

Juniata College rang in 1999 by taking center stage for one of the most prestigious theater events in the nation. The Kennedy Center/American College Theater Festival (KC/ACTF) held its Region II programs at Juniata January 12-17. Festival hosts and participants weathered a wicked winter storm to perform a week's worth of top-notch theater.

College and university theater departments from six regional states and the District of Columbia were on campus. In all, 800 visiting theater personnel congregated at Juniata. The festival featured five fully staged productions that were selected as the region's best this school year. The productions performed at Juniata were competing for selection to the national festival at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C. in the spring of 1999. There were also several competitions -- in acting, playwriting, stage design, costume design, lighting, and criticism. In addition, workshops in many areas of theater practice were conducted during the week.

And, as the curtain rose on the 31st annual Region II KC/ACTF, Andrew Belser, assistant professor of theater at Juniata, and several Juniata students were pulling the strings. Professor Belser and five of his student assistants had prominent roles in organizing the event as well as marketing and generating publicity. Cate Kurtz, a senior from Huntingdon, Pa., served as the festival host. Kristy Chouiniere, a senior from East Stroudsburg, Pa., was an assistant coordinator and was nominated to perform in the festival's distinguished Irene Ryan Acting Scholarship competition. C.C. McFarland, a senior from he emphasized the opportunity it would provide for Juniata students interested in the arts, in general, and theater, in particular.

"I looked at this as a fantastic opportunity for our students to get directly involved with a major theater event and as a great educational

Not even wicked winter snow and ice storms could put a damper on the theater festival. While buses could not make the shuttle runs between the Juniata campus and the hotels where festival participants roomed due to the hazardous traveling conditions on two days dur-

Andrew Belser (right), assistant professor of theater, and several students organized the 31st annual Region II Kennedy Center American College Theater Festival. Back row, Kristy Chouiniere '99 (Communication and Performing Arts POE), front row, Phil McManus '00 (Art and Media Studies), C. C. McFarland '99 (Literature and Performing Arts), Cate Kurtz '99 (Arts Administration). Not pictured Ian Bannon '01 (Psychology POE).

"I looked at this as a great educational opportunity for our students to work hand-in-hand with some of the best theater people around." —Andrew Belser Fairport, N.Y., served as the theater coordinator. Phil McManus, a junior from Glenolden Pa., and Ian Bannon, a junior from Lemont, Pa., served as transportation coordinators. In addition to this core group of staff coordinators, several other Juniata students volunteered their services for the festival.

When Professor Belser pursued Juniata's chances of hosting such a lofty theater festival, opportunity for our students to work hand-in-hand with some of the best theater people around," Belser said.

The festival also gave Juniata an opportunity to showcase its recently refurbished and dedicated Rosenberger Auditorium in Oller Hall. All five plays were performed in Rosenberger Auditorium, which was dedicated in September 1998. Through funding from the Rosenberger family gifts, Juniata has made significant renovations in Oller Hall. The naming of the auditorium honors the entire Rosenberger family. The Rosenberger gifts have come collectively from W. Clemens "Clem" Rosenberger '54, his wife, Margaret, his mother and father, the late Pauline and Lester, his sister, Nancy R. Faus '56, and her husband, Robert, and the Rosenberger's family trust.

ing festival week, Juniata's festival organizers were praised for their work in hosting and conducting a top-notch festival. Jay Edelnant, national vice-chair of KC/ACTF, congratulated Professor Belser and his student assistants in a letter, writing, "I wanted to extend my heartfelt thanks to you and all of your staff and students for salvaging what could have been a disastrous week and turning it into a delight. Your students did a wonderful job and managed to keep morale higher than we had any right to hope ... The warmth of your hospitality went a long way to heal the rawness of the weather. I hope that the festival did as much for Juniata as you have done for us."

Each year eight KC/ACTF regional festivals are held throughout the United States. Juniata was selected to host the Region II festival, which was open to college and university theater departments in the states of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, and West Virginia, and the District of Columbia. JC

Juniata Theatre Presents "The Wild Goose Circus"

In addition to hosting the Region II Kennedy Center/American College Theater Festival in January, Juniata Theatre continued its impressive trend of having professional theater personnel working on productions at Juniata with the 1999 spring semester performance of "The Wild Goose Circus."

Award-winning playwright Russell Davis has showcased his poignant, cutting-edge plays at many nationally renowned theaters. Andy Belser, assistant professor of theater at Juniata, enticed Davis to select Juniata Theatre as the place to rework the remarkable script of "The Wild Goose Circus." Davis originally created the play at Robert Redford's Sundance Institute.

"The Wild Goose Circus" evolved through many stages prior to its production at Juniata College. The play was first commissioned by the New York Theatre Workshop through a grant by the New York Council on the Arts. Then, the play was selected for further development at Sundance Playwrights Laboratory. "The Wild Goose Circus" progressed at the New York Stage and Film at Vassar College and again at the Playwrights Theatre of New Jersey. It was then presented as a reading at the New York Shakespeare Festival. At the Annex Theatre in Seattle, "The Wild Goose Circus" was introduced as a fringe theater production. Finally, the Pennsylvania Opera Theater commissioned the play to form it into an opera.

"The Wild Goose Circus" can be interpreted on many different levels. The play speaks on a metaphoric level in which an adult audience can appreciate the complexities and ambiguities of many issues. But, children also enjoy the play for its magnificent visual aspects and an easy-to-follow good-versus-bad theme.

The story of "The Wild Goose Circus" unfolds when a once proud and exciting traveling circus suddenly finds itself dysfunctional and can't quite do the tricks that it used to do. The circus performers can't figure out what has gone wrong or why their acts have gone awry. The real story of this brilliant theatrical vision, however, is the way it offers layers of mythology, quantum physics, and the decay and ultimate hope for a contemporary world.

Davis' other plays include "Appointment with a High Wire Lady," "The Last Good Moment of Lily Baker," "The Day of the Picnic," and "Sally's Gone, She Left Her Name." These plays have been produced at various theaters throughout the country.

They have also been presented at the Mark Taper Forum's New Work Festival ('95 & '97), the Sundance Institute Playwrights Lab, and the O'Neill Center's National Playwrights Conference ('82, '83 & '86). "The Last Good Moment of Lily Baker" won a Drama-logue Critics Award in California for best play in 1987.

Juniata students performed the play during its run at the College. They had the invaluable experience of working closely with Davis, who was on the Juniata campus throughout rehearsals and during the shows March 10-13. He had a cameo appearance as a juggler in the play.

In addition to Davis, several other theater professionals participated in the production of "The Wild Goose Circus." Award-winning professional composer John Nuhn of New York, who created the moving score for Juniata Theatre's 1998 production of "The Diviners," returned to compose and record original music for "The Wild Goose Circus." Award-winning professional light designer Craig Young, who managed the light show for last fall's production of "The Sympathetic Weight of Bones" at Juniata, also returned for the light design of "The Wild Goose Circus." Catherine Norgren, who was the 1999 KC/ACTF Region II chair, returned to Juniata for "The Wild Goose Circus" to serve as the costume designer.

Andrew Belser, assistant professor of theater, at work in the classroom.

Kelly Cybuck '00 (Communication POE) takes on the role of a highwire artist named Clotilde Jilly Bean.

Sean Mahoney '02 (Exploratory POE), left, playing the role of Joshua Karabos, the ringmaster of the dysfunctional circus, performs with Clotilde Jilly Bean, played by Kelly Cybuck '00 (Communication POE).

Henry Thurston-Griswold, associate professor of Spanish, and Manel Lacorte, instructor in Spanish, participated in the session "Different Approaches to Language Instruction" at the 29th Annual Conference of the Pennsylvania Council for International Education, October 2. Their topic dealt with the use of music in the Spanish language classroom as a way to develop linguistic and cultural proficiency in foreign language pedagogy.

Lacorte and Thurston-Griswold presented a session titled "Building Listening, Oral, and Cultural Proficiency in Spanish Through Music" at the 32nd Annual Meeting of the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages, held in Chicago on November 20-22.

Lacorte authored the article "La Investigación en Acción: Una Guía Práctica" ("Action Research: A Practical Guide") involving qualitative research projects conducted by teachers in the field of general and language education. The article has been recently published by the Spanish journal "Cultura y Educación" (Winter 1998-1999).

Darwin Kysor, director of career services, has been certified by the National Board for Certified Counselors as a "Nationally Certified Counselor."

Alexander Wilke, assistant professor of mathematics, traveled to Slovakia in August to present a paper, "On Generalized Sasaki Projections," at the fourth biannual congress of the International Quantum Structures Association. In June, he co-organized a five-day workshop on "Current Research in Operational Quantum Logic" at the Free University of Brussels, at which he gave a talk, "The FPR Formalism: An Overview." He has also had three papers published: "Abelian Extensions of Quantum Logics," with David Feldman, in the International Journal of Theoretical Physics; "Superentangled States" with Rob Clifton, David Feldman, Hans Halvorsen, and Michael Redhead, in the Physical Review (A); and "Perspectivity and Congruence in Partial Abelian Semigroups," in Mathematica Slovaca.

Diane Bargiel, assistant professor of music, served as the state chairperson for Pennsylvania of the College Band Directors National Association which is the premiere professional organization for college band directors. She also served as judge for the Pennsylvania Congress of Parents and Teachers 1998-99 Reflections Program for the Thomas Jefferson School District in Jefferson Boro, Pa. This program gives young students opportunities to pursue various artistic interests within the realm of local, regional and state competitive levels.

On Sept. 18 & 19, Bargiel attended both the Navy Band Clinic on Newly Published Music at George Mason University and the Fairfax County Band Directors Band Festival which was held at J.E.B. Stuart High School.

On October 12 & 13 she attended the PA Presenters Fall Booking Conference at Bucknell University where arts presenters from Pennsylvania and neighboring states get together to plan for the next season.

Elizabeth Smolkic, IEP director, and Jarmila Polte, IP student advisor, attended the Region VIII Conference of NAFSA: Association of International Educators in Pittsburgh November 19-21. Elizabeth participated with colleagues from Drexel University, Virginia Commonwealth University, and the University of Delaware to present "Marketing the Intensive English Program," using her direct experience in Brazil as a case study. Jarmila chaired and presented in a session with University of Pennsylvania, Georgetown University, and George Washington University colleagues on the topic "Overseas Studies Forms and Publications: Providing Enough Information." The conference had over 600 attendees from institutions in Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, D.C., and Maryland.

Emil Nagengast, assistant professor of politics, has contributed three chapters "Otto von Bismarck," "Konrad Adenauer," and "Helmut Kohl" to the forthcoming Encyclopedia of Nationalism, edited by Alex Motyl of Columbia University.

Nagengast had his article "Europapolitik and National Interest: Are the Germans Normal Yet?" accepted for publication in the British journal Debate: Review of Contemporary German Affairs. This article was the product of the research he conducted last summer in Germany which was supported by a Juniata professional development grant and by the German Fulbright Commission. Wilfred von Bredow, chairman of the political science department at Marburg University, provided important intellectual assistance in the research and writing of this article. On October 8-11 he presented the paper "Are the Germans Normal Yet?: The Role of European Priorities in the 1998 German Election Campaign" at the Annual Conference of the German Studies Association in Salt Lake City.

On March 10, Emil presented the "Globalization" section of a CAPE videoconference seminar for students, managers and business representatives in Sophia, Bulgaria and Bucharest, Romania. Over the past year Emil has worked with eight other professors from across Pennsylvania, with CAPE directors in Bethlehem, and with CAPE partners in Bonn, Germany to set up a videoconference seminar titled "Principles of Market Economics" for East Europeans. The aim of this pilot course is to establish videoconference links between CAPE member institutions and East European institutions for future courses in various academic fields.

Ei-Ichiro Ochiai, professor of chemistry, had an article "Liberal Arts and Pre-med Education" published in the book Crisis in Science Education in Japan (Gakkai-shuppan, Osaka).

Dale Wright, professor of psychology, has authored a book titled Personal Relationships: An Interdisciplinary Approach. The book is scheduled for publication in 1999.

Belle Tuten, assistant professor of history, presented two papers in 1997-98: "Gender, Local Politics, and the Gregorian Reform in Eleventh-century France," to the Southeastern Medieval Association, Nashville, TN, September 1997, and "Remembering the Blessed Girard of Angers," to the 33rd International Congress on Medieval Studies, Kalamazoo, MI, May 1998. She also presented "An Example of Peace and Concord: Inter-Monastery Relationships in Medieval Anjou," to the American Society for Legal History, Seattle, Wa., in October 1998. Her latest publication, The Medieval Woman: An Illuminated Calendar, 1999 (New York: Workman Publishing, 1998), appeared in August.

José Nieto, Mary S. Geiger Professor of Religion and History, was honored at the banquet of the annual meeting of the "Sixteenth Century Studies Conference" held October 21-25 in Toronto, Canada. Dr. Nieto was awarded "the honor of Fellow in Early Modern Studies for significant contribution to the advancement of scholarship and learning." The president of this international society for research in the Renaissance, Humanism, and Reformation, covering from the 15th to 17th centuries, presented Professor Nieto with a certificate of recognition honoring years of contributions to this society as well as contributions to the "Sixteenth Century Journal" issued by this society.

Andrew Murray, director of the Baker Institute, gave the commencement address at Bridgewater College in Virginia last May. He was awarded an honorary degree, Doctor of Humane Letters, recognizing his work in West Africa. In September, he delivered a speech at the York County Fair on the traditional role of the fair as a peace making activity. Also in September he went to Earlham College to chair the fall Board meeting of the National Peace Studies Association. The syllabus for his class "Introduction to Peace and Conflict Studies" was recently published by the American Sociological Association in a curriculum guide titled Teaching the Sociology of Peace and War.

David Hsiung, associate professor of history, presented his paper "Power and Place in the Life of Shickellamy, an Oneida Chief on the Pennsylvania Frontier," before the Pennsylvania Historical Association. In Bethlehem, Pa., he spoke to Juniata alumni and parents of current students about "A Mysterious Affair: The Naval Battle of Huntingdon in the Spanish-American War." He spoke about stereotypes of Appalachia to students at the Webb School in Knoxville, Tenn., and gave the keynote address at the 20th anniversary celebration of the Archives of Appalachia at East Tennessee State University.

Donna S. Weimer, associate professor of communication, was elected vice-president of the Speech Communication Association of Pennsylvania at this year's annual convention in Pittsburgh, Pa., October 1-3. She is a member of the Media and Communication Interest Council and the Rhetoric and Public Address Interest Council. In addition to chairing the Graduate and Undergraduate Writing Competition and Panels, she was elected vice-president for 1999.

Under the auspices of Baker Mediation Services, Celia Cook-Huffman, Donna Weimer, Daniel Cook-Huffman, and Joanne Thurston-Griswold provided mediation training for teachers from Appalachia Intermediate Unit 8. The conference is "Reducing Violence in our Schools and communities... Proactively!" at Saint Francis College in Loretto, Pa., on October 15 & 16. Two follow-up sessions were held in November.

Roy Nagle, science center manager, recently had two papers published. The first titled "Egg Components and Hatchling Lipid Reserves: Parental Investment in Kinosternid Turtles from the Southeastern United States" was co-authored with V.J. Burke and J.D. Congdon (Comparative Biochemistry and Physiology B 120:145-152). This paper examined the maternal allocation of materials to turtle eggs and hatchlings in an evolutionary context. The second paper titled "An Evaluation of Whole Body Potassium-40 Content for Estimating Lean and Fat Mass in Birds" (Condor 100:579-582) is an evaluation of a technique for determining body composition of birds. The paper was co-authored by T.G. Hinton, J.A. Gessaman, and J.D. Congdon.

Jack Troy, assistant professor of art, attended The Bread Loaf Writers' Conference in August at Middlebury College in Ripton, Vt., and participated in a poetry workshop led by Roland Flint, poet laureate of Maryland.

He presented a slide talk and gave individual graduate critiques at Tyler School of Art, Elkins Park, Pa.

His article, "Playing 20 Questions," appeared in the October issue of Ceramics Monthly magazine; his poem, "Throwing," appeared in The Studio Potter magazine.

Troy was a visiting artist at Utah State University, in Logan, for one week during November, as part of a program featuring visual artists who are also writers.

A one-person exhibition of his work was displayed in the Chase Fine Arts Center, and a paddled porcelain pot, porcelain plate, and shino-glazed bottle, all wood-fired, were purchased by the Nora Eccles Harrison Caine Foundation's collection of contemporary ceramics at Utah State University.

An exhibition of Troy's was on display at The Clay Place, Shadyside, Pittsburgh, and his pots were included in an invitational exhibition at the American Institute of Architects Gallery in Pittsburgh. His work is represented in "Made in Clay," a national invitational exhibition held at Greenwich House Pottery, New York City, and new pieces appeared in a national invitational exhibition, "Born of Ashes: Wood Fired Ceramics," held during January and February at The Arkansas Arts Center Decorative Arts Museum, Little Rock.

Troy has been named to the Editorial Advisory Board of "Arts and Letters, Journal of Contemporary Culture," published by Georgia College and State University, Milledgeville.

Doug Glazier, professor of biology, presented a paper, coauthored with Sara Eckert, '97, at the Seventh International Congress of Ecology in Florence, Italy (July 19-25, 1998). The paper was titled "Are widespread small mammals competitively dominant over related restricted species?" He has also published an article in the August 1998 issue of Freshwater Biology. The article is titled "Does body storage act as a food-availability cue for adaptive adjustment of egg size and number in Daphnia magna?"

In addition, Doug participated in a Research Link 2000 Workshop at Carleton College, Northfield, Minnesota (August 5-9, 1998). The Research Link 2000 Project, sponsored by the National Science Foundation and the Council on Undergraduate Research, is designed to create a nationwide resource and support network for undergraduate biology research labs. Doug's lab, "Ecology, evolution and classification of life in a freshwater spring" is one of ten labs that have been chosen for the project.

Glazier and Scott Newcomer, '96, have co-authored a paper published in the March 1999 issue of Evolutionary Ecology Research. The paper is titled "Allochrony: a new way of analyzing life histories, as illustrated with mammals." This research was made possible by an extensive data collection on mammalian reproductive patterns established by Dr. Ari van Tienhoven, one of Doug's mentors at Cornell University.

Donald Durnbaugh, college archivist, had a chapter "The Fight Against War of the Historic Peace Churches, 1919-1941," published in the book Challenge to Mars: Essays on Pacifism from 1918 to 1945 (Toronto: University of Toronto Press, 1999). He also authored two articles in the authoritative reference work, The Encyclopedia of Christianity, Volume I (Grand Rapids: Cambridge, UK; Leiden: William B. Eerdmans / Brill, 1999). The articles are on the "Brethren Churches" and on "Free Church Ecclesiology."

Durnbaugh was honored by a Festschrift in the journal Brethren Life and Thought, appearing in Fall, 1998. The 296-page volume contains articles written by American and European scholars as well as a twenty-page cumulative bibliography of the scholarly publications of Dr. Durnbaugh.

STAGG PARTY

On October 17, Juniata College welcomed back members of the 1973 Stagg Bowl team to College Hill to honor the squad's 25th anniversary of appearing in the NCAA Division III national championship game. A total of 17 members of the coaching staff/team made the journey back to Juniata to rekindle friendships and relive memories of that magical season in 1973.

The group was recognized at the J-Club luncheon prior to the 1:30 kick-off of Juniata's home football game against Lebanon Valley (a 42-21 win for the Eagles), and was also honored at halftime of the gridiron tilt.

The weekend was even more special for two members of the storied squad as Stu Jackson '77 and Lou Eckerl '74 were enshrined into the Juniata College Sports Hall of Fame during induction ceremonies that evening in the Ellis Hall Ballroom.

Other members of the 1973 unit who were in attendance for the special weekend included the head coach of the blue and gold gridders Walt Nadzak, who is now the director of athletics at The Citadel, assistant coach Dean Rossi, as well as long-time trainer Bill Germann. In addition, Dave Amidon '75, Carmen DeFrancesco '75, Al Dunkleberger '76, Mike Hanselman '77, Barry Hartley '76, Joe Lauver '74, Mike McNeal '74, David Nichols '77, Steve Norris '75, Jim Rossi '75, Mike Slough '75, and Bill Wingard '76.

Juniata was expected by many to have a solid football squad in 1973, with a large freshman recruiting class and 10 starters back on offense from a team that went 6-3 in 1972. The College Hill gridders did not disappoint, going 9-1 during the regular season and winning the Middle Atlantic Conference (MAC) Northern Division title.

JC

Members of the Juniata College football 1973 Stagg Bowl team returned to campus on October 17 to celebrate the 25th anniversary of its appearance in the Division III national championship game. Those back on campus were recognized at halftime of the Juniata vs. Lebanon Valley football outing and took time to pose for a photo. Front row (from left to right): Dean Rossi, Carmen DeFrancesco, Lou Eckerl, Mike McNeal, Barry Hartley, and Bill Wingard. Second row: Walt Nadzak, Steve Norris, Jim Rossi, Dave Nichols, Joe Lauver, Stu Jackson, Al Dunkleberger, Mike Hanselman, and Bill Germann.

The 1973 Season (10-2)

Sept. 15	at Gettysburg	W, 28-3
Sept. 22	Ithaca	W, 28-14
Sept. 29	at Albright	W, 17-0
Oct. 6	at Georgetown, D.C.	W, 27-0
Oct. 13	Susquehanna	W, 14-3
Oct. 20	at Lycoming	W, 27-3
Oct. 27	Wilkes	L, 15-25
Nov. 3	at Westminster	W, 15-9
Nov. 10	Moravian	W, 52-14
Nov. 17	at Delaware Valley	W, 31-6

NCAA Division III Eastern Semifinal

Dec. 1	at Bridgeport	W, 35-14
--------	---------------	----------

NCAA Division III Stagg Bowl Championship

Dec. 8	Wittenberg (at Phenix City, AL)	L, 0-41
--------	------------------------------------	---------

1973 FOOTBALL TEAM JUNIATA COLLEGE

HUNTINGDON, PENNSYLVANIA

MIDDLE ATLANTIC CONFERENCE CHAMPIONS
EASTERN NCAA DIVISION III CHAMPIONS
NATIONAL NCAA DIVISION III 2ND PLACE WINNERS

The Juniata College women's volleyball team hosted the 1998 NCAA Division III semifinals/finals in Memorial Gymnasium on December 4-5. Pictured to the left are junior middle hitter Jennie Lizun (#22) and junior setter Colleen Carver, who helped lead the Eagles to a fourth-place finish in the nation. Juniata lost its semifinal match to California-San Diego, 3-1, and then suffered a 3-2 setback to Wellesley (Mass.) in the third-place match. Central College (Iowa) won its first-ever national title on the women's volleyball court with a 3-2 victory over California-San Diego in the finals.

Sports Hotline

24 hrs, 7 days

Stay in touch with Juniata College Athletics
anytime/anywhere

814-641-3124

(press 4 when prompted)

CONSIDER JOINING THE J-CLUB

Call: 814-641-3511

Write: J-CLUB, Athletics Department,
Juniata College, Huntingdon, PA
16652-2119

With any contribution you will receive the Sidelines newsletter, a publication that keeps you up-to-date on Juniata athletics throughout the academic year.

'32

Allene (Yarnel) Poulson, Class of '32 Class Fund Agent, has been keeping herself very busy in Tallahassee, Fla., where she resides. She recently served on Governor Chiles' Children's Crusade Group and is the president of residential council at Westminster Oaks Retirement Center in Tallahassee, Fla. Allene is proud for having served as chaplain for the past three years for the Florida Silver Haired Legislature, where she also held the post as senator for ten years.

'50

Charles R. Dillen and his wife Patricia (Beale) Dillen '49 have been observing "Mountain Day" every year since they graduated from Juniata. That makes 52 consecutive Mountain Days! They choose a beautiful day in October and head for one of Pennsylvania's State Parks to enjoy its wonder. The picture shows Chick and Pat on their Mountain Day this year at Parker Dam State Park.

Eugene A. Roddy and his wife Frances (Little) Roddy celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on June 26, 1998. The couple still resides in Marlton, N.J.

'52

Miriam (Smith) Wetzel, a lecturer on medical education at Harvard Medical School, co-authored the article "Courses Involving Complementary and Alternative Medicine at U.S. Medical Schools" published in the Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA). The article has attracted significant attention resulting in twenty-three radio interviews and reports on national radio and television newscasts.

'55

Gail (Roach) Mack represented Juniata College as a delegate at the installation of President Allyson Hughes Handley at Midway College in Midway, Ky. on October 23, 1998.

'54

W. Clemens Rosenberger, an ordained Brethren minister for 35 years, recently joined the development staff at Brethren Village, Lancaster, Pa., to serve as a liaison between Brethren Village, its sponsoring churches, and pastors of the Church of the Brethren Atlantic Northeast District. Clem has been a member of the Board of Trustees at Juniata since 1979.

'57

Henry H. Gibbel received the 1998 Trustee of the Year Award from the American Association of Homes and Services for the Aging (AAHSA). This award recognizes individuals who make a significant contribution to the well-being of the elderly and others the organization serves. Henry has been a member of the Brethren Village Board of Directors for more than thirty years and is currently Chairman of the Board. Henry has been a member of the Juniata College Board of Trustees since 1973. In addition to this, he is also president, CEO, and director of Mutual Insurance Company and Penn Charter Mutual Insurance Company in Lititz, Pa.

'58

George Fattman is now executive director of Laurel Arts, an arts center serving Somerset County. It is a welcome change for him, after working nearly nine years on the assignment desk at WJAC-TV in Johnstown, Pa.

Charles G. Winter represented Juniata College as a delegate at the installation of President Walter

'53

Ronald L. Cherry and his wife Betty Ann traveled to Japan. They were entertained in the home of Yuki (Mizuki) Takahashi (exchange student 1991 to 1992) on October 11, 1998. They also visited Professor and Mrs. Isao Hara, visiting professors in March of 1996. Ron and Betty Ann said it was wonderful to see other professors and students they had taught at Hokusei during their sabbatical in Japan in '92-'93. This picture was taken on October 3, 1998 in the home of Dr. Nobuo Dobashi, President of Hokusai Gaken University. (left to right) Seated Mrs. Yoshimi Dobashi, Ronald L. Cherry '53, Betty Ann (Ellis) Cherry, (left to right) Standing Dr. Nobuo Dobashi, Tomoe Okino (attended Juniata 1992 to 1993), Yuri Hasegawa (attended Juniata 1997 to 1998), and Aki Nishihara (attended Juniata 1995 to 1996).

Barackman Roettger at Lyon College in Batesville, Ark. on October 24, 1998.

'60

Ronald S. Thomas retired after 31 years from the Job Center in Huntingdon, Pa. He plans to stay active by serving on the newly formed Career Development Marketplace Services committee.

'61

Karl A. Shreiner has opened a risk management and consulting business. The business will focus on offering professional analysis and guidance to the business community. Primarily it deals with the treatment of the many accidental risks of loss facing the business world. Karl has 30 years' experience with both a major national insurance company and a nationally recognized insurance broker. He has been awarded two of the most prestigious designations in the insurance industry - Chartered Property Casualty Underwriter (CPCU) and Associate in Risk Management (ARM).

'62

John P. Parks, president of Mockenhaupt, Mockenhaupt, Cowden, & Parks (MMC&P) Retirement Benefit Services, Inc., has joined the American Academy of Actuaries Board of Directors. He is responsible for strategic long-range planning, administration of corporate policies, and implementation of internal management decisions. Along with serving as president, John serves as a client consultant and is an enrolled actuary. Parks is also a member of the American Academy of Actuaries, president-elect of the American Society of Pension Actuaries, and a member of the Conference of Consulting Actuaries.

'65

Nancy (Roop) Peters has qualified for CACI's Marathon Award, based on her outstanding efforts in managing and expanding their Year 2000 contracts with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC). The Marathon Award is granted to those individuals who successfully sell added or new work against existing indefinite delivery/indefinite quantity government and comparable commercial contracts resulting in new revenue of $15 million or more. Nancy works for CACI in Arlington, Va.

'74

Sarah (Young) Fisher runs Fischer Advisors, a financial consulting firm in Lancaster, Pa. She recently co-authored the book, Everything You Need to Know About Money and Investing: A financial expert answers the 1,001 most frequently asked questions, to answer questions and inform people about the risks and problems of investing money.

Michael A. Jablonski was elected to a four-year term on the River Heights City Council in Utah, November 1997. As a city councilman of the small town of 1,500 residents, he is in charge of the city's planning and zoning department. Also, he and his wife, Cindy Johnson, own and operate a business, NR Systems, Inc. Their business of nine years includes environmental consulting and working on projects in Utah, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, and New Mexico.

'76

Ruth (Randall) Offutt was recently honored with the American Advertising Federation Silver Medal Award. The award was presented by the Frederick County Advertising Federation in recognition of outstanding contributions to advertising and furthering the industry's standards, creative excellence, and responsibility in areas of social concern. Ruth was the president and co-owner of an advertising agency for ten years and now works as a musician. She is principally a mandolinist and performs with Frederick, Md. and Washington, D.C. based groups.

Cheryl (Dettmar) Stites has recently joined Princeton Crossroads Realty in Princeton, N.J. as a licensed realtor. She resides in Skillman, N.J. with her husband John, and daughter Kyle Amanda.

'78

Christopher S. Hart of Rosemont, Pa. was elected by the Episcopal Diocese of Pennsylvania to be a Deputy to General Convention at the triennial national meeting of the Episcopal Church in Denver for the year 2000.

'79

Timothy S. Reed of Mechanicsburg, Pa. is the new president of the Physician Medicine and Rehabilitation Assembly (PMRA), one of the 27 special interest groups of the Medical Group Management Association (MGMA). Tim, a certified medical practice executive, assumed the position for 1998-99 during MGMA's Annual Conference, October 4-7, at the Colorado Convention Center in Denver, Colo.

'80

Nancy R. Zinkham represented Juniata College as a delegate at the installation of President G. Warren Smith at Slippery Rock University in Slippery Rock, Pa. on December 19, 1998.

'88

Daniel A. Ballentine, Jr. (holding the checkered flag) clinched the 1998 Flemington Speedway E.A.S.T. division championship on September 1, 1998 in New Jersey. Highlights from his 14-race schedule include three wins and seven second-place finishes. Dan has commented that Professor Ron Cherry's driving of the school van served as his inspiration.

'81

Douglas F. Klepfer represented Juniata College as a delegate at the installation of President David R. Black at Eastern College in St. Davids, Pa. on October 3, 1998.

'82

Nanci A. Young was appointed college archivist at Smith College, Northampton, Mass. beginning March 1998. After a seven-year hiatus as assistant archivist at Princeton University, she is happy to be back in New England, where she attended graduate school immediately after graduating from Juniata.

'83

Richard P. Brown, Jr. began working for Exxon as an environmental toxicologist in September 1997. His work involves issue management and problem solving for the Exxon Petroleum and Chemicals businesses. Rick now resides in Stewartville, N.J. with his wife, Sara (Sonntag) Brown '83, and two children.

'84

Gregory L. Stahl was recently promoted to associate professor at Harvard Medical School in Boston, Mass. He was also selected as an established investigator of the National American Heart Association.

'85

Richard J. Noll received the Army Achievement Medal and a Certificate of Achievement while assigned to Echo Company 187th Medical Battalion this past summer in Fort Sam Houston, Texas. His dedication and hard work reflect great credit upon himself, the Army Medical Department Center and School, and the United States Army.

'86

Joseph M. Scialabba has joined the administrative staff at the Roman Catholic Diocese of Altoona-Johnstown as the director of stewardship and development. The diocese covers eight counties of Central Pennsylvania with 147 parishes, 31 parish elementary schools, and three Catholic high schools. His new office is located at 124 Logan Blvd. in Hollidaysburg, Pa 16648. He can be reached by phone at 814-695-5579 or by email at scialaj@nb.net. Joe had served Juniata in numerous administrative roles during more than 12 years on the staff. He and his wife Dawn (assistant dean of students at Juniata) and their son Matthew still reside in Huntingdon.

'87

Timothy A. Holmes began his first year of study at Dickinson School of Law of the Pennsylvania State University in Carlisle, Pa.

Melissa (Iezzi) Romanelli is a performance advancement coordinator for Halliburton Energy Services. She is responsible for the operating areas in Tennessee and Illinois. Melissa and her husband Vincent reside in Murrysville, Pa.

'89

Jennifer L. Graham has completed her residency at Geisinger Medical Center - Janet Weis Children's Hospital and is now a pediatrician in her hometown of Clearfield, Pa.

Timothy M. and Heidi (Wagaman) '91 Abbey bought their first home in Manchester, Conn. They love being home owners. Timothy started a new job with the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station in Windsor, Conn. Heidi took an educational leave of absence from her job at the University of Connecticut's Art and Design Library and accepted a full scholarship to earn a master of library science degree at the University at Albany-SUNY. They would love to hear from other Juniata alumni in New England.

Ronald T. Hersh completed his prosthodontic residency at the Medical College of Georgia in June 1997. He started his practice "Advanced Prosthodontics" in December 1997 in Bethlehem, Pa. He is also an attending prosthodontist at Muhlenburg Hospital GPR residency.

Heather (Merrill) McCauley moved to Springfield, Va. and would like to reconnect with old friends and alumni in the area.

'90

Christine E. Gloss has accepted a position as an adult instructor with the Tuscarora Intermediate Units Adult Training and Education Center. She lives in Mifflintown, Pa.

'91

John B. Bulger has joined the Section of General Internal Medicine at Geisinger Medical Center.

He received his medical degree at the Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine in 1995. John completed an internship and a residency at the same institution, where he was chief resident. In September 1997, the National Osteopathic Foundation presented him with the Bristol-Myers Squibb Outstanding Resident Award in recognition of his outstanding performance in family practice, pediatrics, and internal medicine. His wife, Michele A. Neff-Bulger '93, is a resident with the Penn State Geisinger Health System.

'92

Robert A. Coursen is pastor at the Woodworth Church of the Brethren in Youngstown, Ohio.

Donald S. Finklestine was recently designated naval flight officer while serving with Fleet Air Reconnaissance Squadron One, Naval Air Station Whidbey Island, Oak Harbor, Wash. He was presented with his "Wings of Gold" which marks the end of his 18 months of flight training.

Douglas J. Jenkins is working as an associate scientist for AAI in N.C. He was unscathed by hurricane Bonnie which hit five weeks after moving to the coastal region of Wilmington, N.C.

Heather L. Neff was recently named administrator of the Morrisons Cove Home in Martinsburg, Pa. She resides in Roaring Spring, Pa.

'93

Vickie (Luther) Harby represented Juniata College as a delegate at the installation of President Michael MacDowell at College Misericordia in Dallas, Pa. on November 21, 1998.

Brent W. Hurley is a K-5 counseling specialist with the Selinsgrove Area School District in Selinsgrove, Pa.

Courtney (Spencer) Warren fulfilled the requirements for a Ph.D. in solid state inorganic chemistry from Cornell University in August 1998. She is employed as a research scientist at Osrarn Sylvania in Towanda, Pa.

'94

Amy R. Chamberlain is finishing her master's degree in intercultural relations at Lesley College in Cambridge, Mass. She plans to complete an internship with an international non-profit organization this summer.

Jessica J. Robertson is almost halfway through her master's degree in international journalism at City University in London, England. She will intern at CNN London next semester. Jessica has taken a study leave from her job as senior news reporter at the Broadcasting Corporation of the Bahamas.

Grettel K. Wentling graduated from Mayo Medical School in Rochester, Minn. in May. After spending six weeks in Western Kenya at Tenwek Hospital, she began her residency in general surgery at the Mayo Clinic in Jacksonville, Fla.

'96

Louis E. Costa, Jr. was awarded a master of biomedical science degree from Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine. The college's 107th commencement was held at the Academy of Music in Philadelphia on Sunday, May 24, 1998.

'97

Christopher M. Fazio plays professional volleyball for Donaukraft in Europe. His team's website is www.asn.or.at/donaukraft. Christopher resides in Vienna, Austria.

Jason A. Forsythe is a teacher on the Rosebud Indian Reservation in South Dakota.

Dale E. Miller currently holds the position of college unit director and special agent for Northwestern Mutual Life in the Clearfield, Pa. office of Gathagan & Miller. Dale is also a general partner in Mardale, a company involved with business ventures.

Brian C. Yoder completed fifteen months of Brethren volunteer service in August 1998. His assignment was to function as coordinator of the National Youth Conference for the Church of the Brethren, held from July 28-August 2, 1998 in Ft. Collins, Colo. Over 4,500 youth and advisors attended. Brian has accepted a position at Manchester College, North Manchester, Ind.

'98

Erin L. Barr is now living in Thornton, Colo.

Jennifer A. Barroner is personnel manager for Giant Eagle in Altoona, Pa. She lives in Hollidaysburg, Pa.

Marsha L. Batzel is a kindergarten teacher for the Huntingdon Area School District in Huntingdon, Pa.

Kathleen M. Brumbaugh is a program technician for the United States Department of Agriculture Farm Service Agency, Blair County Office. She resides in Saxton, Pa.

Christina L. Cerra is an instructor/naturalist for the College Auxillary Services of SUNY New Paltz at Ashokan Field Campus. She lives in Olivebridge, N.Y.

Courtney Colonna is an AmeriCorps* VISTA volunteer for AmeriCorps* VISTA/Peekskill Area Health Center in Peekskill, N.Y. She is currently living in Peekskill, N.Y.

Sandra J. Connelly is a research technician with the Rodale Institute in Kutztown, Pa. She plans to attend graduate school September 1999. She resides in Montoursville, Pa.

Conni D. Covington attends Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N.Y. She hopes to obtain a Ph.D. in organic chemistry by the year 2003. Conni lives in Troy, N.Y.

Christopher T. Donaldson is attending Penn State University College of Medicine in Hershey, Pa., pursuing a medical degree. He lives in Nanty Glo, Pa.

Wayne A. Dreibelbis, Jr. works for the United States Marine Corps. He and his wife, Beth, have two sons, Noah and Levi, and one daughter, Mara Beth.

Autumn D. Fleck is a cost engineer with Berg Electronics. She lives in Shirleysburg, Pa.

Andre C. French is a probation officer with Mifflin County Office of Probation and Parole. He lives in Lewistown, Pa.

Gabriel G. Gamber is attending Stanford University to obtain his Ph.D. in chemistry. He resides in Stanford, Calif.

Melissa C. Geedey is attending the University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine to obtain her veterinarian medical degree in small animal medicine. She resides in Mifflintown, Pa.

Amanda M. Grannas is attending Purdue University to obtain a Ph.D. in analytical chemistry. She lives in Lafayette, Ind.

Derek M. Haughney is a management trainee with Eagle USA Airfreight. He resides in Harrisburg, Pa.

Elizabeth L. Hawkey is employed as a secondary English/Fine Arts teacher for the Everett Area School District in Everett, Pa. She currently resides in Huntingdon, Pa.

Virginia (Herrera) Heard is working as a laboratory technician in neurology at Johns Hopkins University. She resides in Cockeysville, Md.

Jennifer E. Heaster is attending the University of Pittsburgh to pursue a master's degree in physical therapy.

Barbara M. Heath is studying physical therapy at the University of Pittsburgh School of Health and Rehabilitation Sciences. She lives in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Marybeth Henderson works as a bioinformatics assistant for the Genetics Institute in Cambridge, Mass.

Tiffany L. Hepner is attending the University of South Florida to obtain a master's degree in coastal geology. She lives in Tampa, Fla.

Jennifer S. Jacobs is a preschool teacher with the Hampton Presbyterian Church Children's Center. She lives in Oakmont, Pa.

Essential Matching Gifts

Alumni and friends of the College generate vital funds by participating in corporate matching gift programs, in which companies match, double or triple their employees' contributions. These generous gifts provide essential support needed to strengthen the quality of our programs and meet the educational needs of students today.

Please take a moment to get a matching gift form from your personnel office and follow the directions to initiate a matching gift.

Michelle L. Jenkins is a residential program assistant with Northwestern Human Services/Juniata River Center. She will be attending graduate school at the University of Pittsburgh beginning in 1999 to gain her master's degree in school psychology. She resides in Huntingdon, Pa.

Corrinne M. Joseph is a management trainee at Enterprise Rent-A-Car in Middletown, Pa. She lives in Harrisburg, Pa.

Jeffrey E. Kauffman is anticipating a degree in podiatric medicine from the Temple University of Podiatric Medicine in Philadelphia, Pa. He lives in Brogue, Pa.

Kirsten E. Kenyon is attending the School of Public Affairs at Penn State in Harrisburg, Pa. to obtain her master's degree in public administration. She is an assistant director with the West Shore Council of Governments. Kirsten resides in Dauphin, Pa.

Heather L. Kidder is an international customer service representative with R.P.S., Inc. She lives in Lawrence, Pa.

Brett R. Laronde is an assistant athletic trainer and faculty intern with Culver Academies. He is also a volunteer emergency medical technician driver with the Culver Union Township EMS. Brett lives in Culver, Ind.

Debbie C. Lee is taking inbound calls as a customer service representative for Teletech in Uniontown, Pa. She resides in Uniontown, Pa.

Mary T. Litzinger is attending George Washington University to obtain a Ph.D. in biomedical sciences, where she resides.

Jonathan R. Long is a mathematics teacher with the Pequea Valley School District in Kinzers, Pa. He lives in New Holland, Pa.

Suzanna F. Loy is attending Dickinson School of Law in Carlisle, Pa. She resides in Altoona, Pa.

Andrea M. Marland is attending Eastern College in St. David's, Pa. She hopes to earn a master's degree in education counseling and school psychology. Andrea is an elementary school teacher at the Woodlynde School in Strafford, Pa. She currently resides in Wayne, Pa.

Nathanael J. McKeown is anticipating a degree in osteopathy at the University of Health Sciences Kansas City College of Osteopathic Medicine. He lives in Kansas City, Mo.

David D. Meadows is working as an enrollment counselor for the Juniata College Enrollment Center. He resides in Huntingdon, Pa.

Jeffrey L. Mills, Jr. is currently attending the State University of New York. He is studying chemistry and hopes to gain his Ph.D. Jeffrey resides in Buffalo, N.Y.

Steven C. Miller is working for the Albert Gallatin School District in Masontown, Pa. as an instructional aide to the physically handicapped. He is also an assistant varsity football coach and head junior varsity coach. Steven resides in Greensburg, Pa.

Kelli A. O'Harrow has recently accepted a one-year Church of the Brethren Volunteer Service (BVS) assignment with San Antonio Catholic Worker House in San Antonio, Texas.

Michael S. Peters is a laboratory assistant with F.T. Kitlinski & Associates, Inc. He lives in Shermansdale, Pa.

Garwood D. Reynolds was hired in July 1998 as a Spanish I and II teacher in the Lamar Consolidated Independent School District in Rosenberg, Texas.

Carrie A. Richards is attending Penn State University - DuBois Campus, to obtain her MBA. She currently holds a position as director of marketing at Timberland Federal Credit Union. Carrie resides in Curwensville, Pa.

Julie A. Rosensteel is a case manager with the Juniata River Center Base Service Unit. She lives in Huntingdon, Pa.

MacKenzie A. Ruggiero is working as a public relations coordinator for Interspace Airport Advertising. She lives in Bangor, Pa.

Richard W. Schreier, II is a middle school science teacher with the Montoursville Area School District. He resides in Montoursville, Pa.

Jason M. Sharpe is a supervisor for JLG Industries. He lives in Wells Tannery, Pa.

Timothy E. Shawaryn is attending Dickinson School of Law of Pennsylvania State University, anticipating a JD degree in Law. He resides in Carlisle, Pa.

Kelli D. Sheesley is a sports information intern at Bucknell University. She resides in Lewisburg, Pa.

David W. Shoenthal is currently attending Pennsylvania State University, working on his Ph.D. in mathematics. He resides in State College, Pa.

Colleen L. Shoup is a kindergarten teacher at Discovery Express in Ohio. She is living in Toledo, Ohio.

Brandon N. Simpson is currently a student teacher at Juniata Valley Elementary School.

Brandon P. Staub is attending the University of Georgia. He hopes to earn a master's degree in conservation ecology and sustainable development. Brandon lives in Athens, Ga.

Matthew G. Tomasheski is working as a medical equipment analyst for ECRI in Plymouth Meeting, Pa. He resides in Somerdale, N.J.

Jennifer M. Ungemach began volunteering for Our Little Brothers and Sisters in Honduras in January 1999.

Heather L. Wetzel is a primary caregiver for Tender Care Learning Centers. She is living in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Megan E. Williams is attending the University of California to attain a Ph.D. in molecular biology. She lives in Santa Cruz, Calif.

B E A P A R T O F T H E
1998-99 JC NEWS Clip Book

In the course of the last year, Juniata College, its alumni, faculty, students, and staff have made headlines across the country and around the world. From a Nobel Prize to a Presidential Medal of Freedom to Fulbright and Goldwater Scholars, Juniata has made news.

For the 1998-99 school year, the Juniata media relations office plans to track the coverage that the College receives, AND YOU CAN HELP!

If your local newspaper, radio and television stations outside the Huntingdon/Blair Counties area report news on Juniata or any of its alumni, faculty, students, and staff, please notify our office at 814-641-3132 or, better yet, send us a copy of the news at: External Relations Office, "Juniata In The News," 1700 Moore Street, Huntingdon, PA 16652.

At the conclusion of the school year we will compile a collection of the news that Juniata and its colleagues make in the form of a "1998-99 News Clips Book." We thank you for being a contributor to this effort.

Stanley Willis, Jr. is attending Saint Francis College in Loretto, Pa. He hopes to earn his MBA in finance specialization. Stanley is currently a consultant with the Small Business Resource Center and the Center for Global Competitiveness. He lives in Huntingdon, Pa.

Joshua F. Wolf is working towards his education certificate. He is a student teacher at Central High School in Martinsburg, Pa.

MARRIAGES

Karen L. Bender '74 and Nelson H. Benedict were married on September 16, 1997 at Saranac Lake, N.Y. The couple resides in Shippensburg, Pa.

Bradley K. Rudy '75 and Barbara J. Fagan were married on November 21, 1998 in Primos, Pa. The couple moved to Atlanta, Ga. in January where Bradley assumed the position of senior transportation analyst for the Norfolk Southern Railroad.

Lisa L. Smith '88 and Kenneth C. Gfrorer '87 were married on August 8, 1998 at the Lost Run Lodge near Somerset, Pa. Juniata alumni in the wedding party were Brenda (Heiland) Hester '88, Christopher E. Hester '88 and Jill (Hehn) Zakerowski '88. Other Juniata alumni in attendance: Thomas M. Davis '88, Dennis J. Mehigan '87, Nicholas J. Madigan '87, Randall R.

Maggie Gregory '86 and Ross Lucas were married on May 16, 1998 in Dallas, Texas. Other Juniata alumni in attendance included Kimberly A. Sutliff '86, Kathy (Readinger) Neumar '87, Rebecca B. Hawkins '86, Rhonda S. Bergey '86, Robert W. Neumar '85, Thomas C. Cancelmo '86, Francis B. Biddle '86 and Marie (Rose) Beattie '87. Maggie and Ross have taken assignments with their firms to work and live in London for one year beginning August 1, 1998.

right) Standing: Rebecca (Hostetter) Sinapius '87, Stephen P. Borza '86, Robin (Bird) Rome '86, Eric D. Rome '86, Jan (Trissler) Appleby '86, Karen A. Fonner '86, John C. Mackdad '85, Marie (Glendenning) Makdad '84 Sitting: Kenneth Sinapius, Ann (Cameron) Borza '87, Michael D. Appleby '84, Holly K. Crable '85.

Schmidt '87, Lawrence D. Hillman '88, Pamela (Jones) Haubert '93, Charles E. Yohn '83 and Kelley A. Gebhart '97, as well as Dr. Robert Fisher. Lisa is the director of stewardship for the Western Pennsylvania Conservancy and Ken is director of integrated Energy Management for CNG. The couple resides in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Stacey L. Standiford '91 and Jeffery Ellenwood were married on October 24, 1998. Stacey is currently working for Hutchinson Seal Corporation in their Plymouth, Mich. sales office as a bilingual sales assistant. Fellow alumni Christine E. Gloss '90 and Stacie (Wagner) Patterson '91 attended the wedding.

Lisa A. Lowery '92 married Michael Howard on May 30, 1998. The candlelight ceremony was held in the evening with six Juniata College alumni in attendance.

Kara R. Dillner '93 and Andrew Schulz were married on March 28, 1998 at Newark United Church of Christ in Newark, Del. Juniata alumni in attendance were Deborah J. Windhorst '93, Kimberly A. Hannig '93, Kelly A. Maloney '94, Stacey L. Fischer '93, Heather L. Lechleitner '93 and John K. Carmelite '93.

Diana K. Gough '89 married Rodrigo Gomez on April 28, 1998. Diana began her seventh year teaching English as a Second Language (ESL) at Langley Park-McCormick Elementary School. She is also an adjunct instructor of ESL for Montgomery Community College's Continuing Education Department. The couple resides in Laurel, Md.

Maylin D. Pheasant '94 and William G. Musser were married on August 15, 1998 at the Stone Church of the Brethren in Huntingdon, Pa. Reverend Andrew Murray performed the service. Juniata alumni present were Maylin's parents Clayton N. Pheasant '65 and Judith (Rodgers) Pheasant '65, brother Joel C. Pheasant '99 and Jennifer J. Lewis '97.

Aaron L. Hicks '95 and Heidi Rutter were married on June 20, 1998 at the First United Methodist Church in Mount Union. Heidi is employed by Westminster Woods in Huntingdon, Pa. Aaron is employed as a teacher at Southern Huntingdon High School. The couple resides in Cassville, Pa.

Heather L. Fine '93 and Chad Lechleitner were married on April 19, 1997 at Moscow United Methodist Church in Moscow Pa. Juniata alumni in attendance were Stacey L.

Fisher '93, Kelly A. Maloney '94, Deborah J. Windhorst '93, Kara (Dillner) Schulz '93 and Kimberly A. Hannig '93.

Gregory M. Hays

'93 married Rachelle Grace on August 16, 1997 in Bedford, Pa. They reside in Lewisville, Ohio. Other Juniata alumni in the wedding and attending were John D.

Brenner, Jr. '93, Tara (Defibaugh) Brenner '93,

Robert G. Maylock '92, Kent S. Kieseewetter '92, Robert S. Madigan '93, William A. Brenner '93, Colleen (Dunn) Brenner '94 and Allyson (Holler) Martz '93.

Sarah A. Moe '95 and Craig Cuyar were married on August 1, 1998 at Miller Chapel in Annville, Pa. Sarah is currently attending Penn State University pursuing a master's degree. She is employed as an instructional designer by Delta Health Systems, Altoona, Pa. Craig is a Penn State University graduate employed as the chief information officer of the Home Nursing Agency, in Altoona, Pa. The couple resides in Altoona, Pa. (left to right) Top row: Jennifer M. Burns '95, Stacey E. Mitsinikos '95, Joseph W. Sohmer '92, Craig Cuyar, Sarah (Moe) Cuyar '95, Benjamin S. Bell '94, Eric B. Snyder '94, Kenneth D. Miller, II '97 Bottom row: Stephanie (Smith) Snyder '95, Christy N. Gongloff '95, Erin (Reed) Kohr '95, Heather M. Rosenstein '95.

Jannette L. Walter '96 and Jeffrey L. Kanagy '94 were married on June 6, 1998. Jannette, a 1997 graduate of Geisinger School of Nursing, is now working as a registered nurse at Locust Grove Retirement Village in Mifflin, Pa. Jeff is employed by the United Parcel Service. The couple resides in Reedsville, Pa.

Angela M. Kerr '97 and Michael Hetrick were married on June 20, 1998 at the First United Methodist Church in Huntingdon, Pa. Angela is currently employed by Huntingdon House and as a substitute teacher at local schools. Michael is employed by Allensville Planing Mill in Huntingdon, Pa. The couple resides in Mill Creek, Pa.

Judith L. Tallmadge '97 and Jason W. Brooks '96 were married on June 20, 1998. The couple resides in Morton, Pa.

Stephanie E. Smith '95 and Eric B. Snyder '94 were married at St. Peter's United Methodist Church in Ocean City, N.J. on October 24, 1998. Many Juniata friends were there to help celebrate! Parents of the bride are Julie (Shimchock) McWilliams '71 and John S. Smith '71. Bridesmaids included Sarah (Moe) Cuyar '95, Jennifer M. Burns '95, and Heather M. Rosenstein '95. Groomsmen included Scott M. Temple '94, Adam L. Metz '94, and Benjamin F. Bell '94. Stephanie is employed with Merck-Medco Rx Services in Human Resources. Eric is in marketing working with the Japanese Multinational Accounts for AMP, Inc. The couple resides in Camp Hill, Pa.

Jennifer Spokus '96 and Jason Youngblood '96 were married on August 8, 1998 at Most Holy Trinity Church in Huntingdon, Pa. A reception followed the ceremony at the Marina Café at Lake Raystown Resort. Jennifer received her master of arts degree in teaching from Goucher College in 1998, and is currently employed as a seventh grade science teacher at Holabird Middle School in Baltimore. Jason received his master of arts degree in counseling psychology from Towson University in 1998, and works as a psychotherapist at the Community Counseling and Resource Center in Cockeysville, Md. The couple spent their honeymoon in Jamaica, and reside in Baltimore, Md. From front to back: Maria V. Van Velson '96, Kristen M. Bauer '96, Rebecca M. Nelson '96, Amy L. Overly '95, Ginger E. Hepler '95, Pamela S. Naudascher '96, Susan Yocum - Wellness Center, Shirley Powell - Career Services, Father Allen Zeth (officiated the ceremony) - Campus Ministries, and Joshua W. Muntain, '95. Not pictured: Frank G. Coffin '98 and Eric M. Nesbitt (attended Juniata 1992-94).

Catherine E. Krugh '98 and Eric L. St. Clair exchanged wedding vows on July 25, 1998 at the Stone Church of the Brethren in Huntingdon, Pa. The bride is an accountant with Harris Savings Bank in Lemoyne, Pa. The groom is associate director of the Huntingdon Learning Center in York, Pa. The couple lives in Mechanicsburg, Pa. Other Juniata alumni in the ceremony were Autumn S. Fleck '98, Andrew C. Krugh '96, Shane E. Griest '96 and Kevin G. Harper '95.

BIRTHS

John R. Robinson '81 and wife, Suzanne, welcome the birth of their fourth child, Grace Robinson, on September 25, 1998. Grace joins brothers Nick and Andrew and sister Molly.

Nancy (Corbin) Spaulding '82 and her husband Mark announce the birth of their son Michael, born on September 30, 1998.

Linda (Buchholz) Boughton '83 and her husband Kevin announce the birth of their daughter Emma Katherine, born on May 19, 1998. She joins her six-year-old brother Andrew.

David F. Lehmann '83, assistant professor of geology at Juniata College, and his wife Carolyn welcome Daniel Izaak to their family. He was born on September 11, 1998.

Denise (Abruzzo) Cohen '84 and Jeffrey M. Cohen '85 are the proud parents of Rachel Nicole, born on May 30, 1998. She joins big sister Carly, who is 4 years old. Jeff is busy running his law practice and serving as Union Township's municipal prosecutor. Denise is working for the New Jersey Commission for the Blind as an assistant network administrator.

Sherri (Herold) Marshall '84 and her husband Thomas are proud first time parents of Maxwell Francis, born on April 10, 1998. He weighed 8 lbs. and was 21 1/2 inches long. Max

Carrie K. Schofield '97 and Keith J. Broadbent '97 were married on June 20, 1998. Carrie is an independent consultant for PRL Associates. Alumni and faculty present at the wedding were (left to right) first row: Jason A. Dagle '97, Rachel (Stahl) Dagle '96, Erica J. Woodworth '97, Devin E. Malcolm '98, Ellen (Packer) Woodworth '72, Heather C. Dankanich '97, second row: Nina M. Mathers '97, Kimberly E. Murray '96, Carrie (Schofield) Broadbent '97, Keith J. Broadbent '97, Judy Fisher, Stephen M. Woodworth '72, Christopher W. Whitman '97, third row: Kathleen S. Padamonsky '97, Steven Van Mater '97, Celia B. Cook-Huffman, Melissa L. Witter '97, Jennifer S. Wolfe '97, Andrew J. McMullin '98, Torin O. Alexander.

Danielle (Tremel) Sanders '98 is a graphic designer and office manager at Lion Technologies, owned by her husband George A. Sanders, Jr. '96. Danielle and George were married on July 11, 1998 and live in Red Lion, Pa.

continues to grow and has already promised his parents he will become a basketball star.

Nina (McKelvey) Michael '85 and her husband, Louis, announce the birth of their son Robert Joseph, nicknamed Reilly. He was born on November 20, 1997.

Patricia (Kirksey) Reiner '85, her husband William, and daughter Kate are happy to announce the birth of Christopher Patrick on November 4, 1997.

Tracy (Stough) Grajewski '86 and husband Joseph are delighted to announce the birth of their son. Adam Joseph was born on October 28, 1998 and weighed 7 lbs. 8 ozs.

Melissa (Maddox) MacDonald '86 and her husband Myles are the proud parents of Garrett Thomas, born on August 24, 1998. He weighed 8 lbs. 8 ozs. and measured 20 1/2 inches long.

Michael A. Migatulski '88 and his wife Sally are proud to announce the birth of their daughter Katherine, born on April 1, 1998.

Sharon (Miller) Deiling '89 and husband Brian announce the birth of their daughter Veronica Sharon, born on March 8, 1997.

Ty M. Snavely '89 and his wife Karen welcomed the birth of their son Chase Michael, born on July 20, 1998. He weighed 8 lbs. 12 ozs and measured 20 1/2 inches long. Chase joins his big sister Taylor, who is four years old.

Chris J. Antonelli '90 and his wife, Virginia, are the proud first time

DROP US A LINE ABOUT...promotions, degrees, job changes, honors, marriages, births, address changes, etc. Complete and return this form to the Office of Alumni Relations, Juniata College, 1700 Moore Street, Huntingdon, PA 16652.

 Send photos with your news! *****

Name: _____ Class: _____ Home phone: _____

Spouse: _____ Class: _____ Work phone: _____

Home address: _____

E-mail address: _____

Item (attach additional sheet if necessary): _____

1E JC Volleyball Hat from Legacy Athletics, cotton twill, white w/blue letters. $17.99

2F Youth Cotton Shorts, grey w/navy & gold imprint. Sizes Yxsm, Ys, Ym, Ylg. $13.99

3G Set of 6 Coasters w/ Cloister in wooden holder $19.99

4D Alpz white t-shirt w/navy imprint left chest, eagle logo on back
 Sizes Med, Ig, XLg $13.99
 XXLg $16.99

Prices in effect until 9/30/99

Exp. Date

TOTAL

JC STORE ORDER FORM

OBITUARIES

parents of Lauren Anna, born January 29, 1998. The Antonelli family resides in Killingworth, Conn.

Julie (Dannaway) Baer '90 and Dr. Stephen D. Baer '91 announce the birth of their son Tyler David, born on June 16, 1998 at Holy Spirit Hospital in Camp Hill, Pa. He weighed 6 lbs. 14 ozs. and was 19 inches long.

Phoebe L. Jones '90 and Thomas Jones announce the birth of their second child, Samuel Dayton, born on October 24, 1998. He weighed 8 lbs. and was 20 inches long. Sam joins his brother, Drew, who is now one year old.

Marianne (Griesbach) Park '90 and Timothy A. Park '89 welcome the birth of their daughter Cassandra Jae, born on August 17, 1998. She weighed 5 lbs. 9 ozs. and measured 17 inches long.

Jennifer (Myers) Haga '91 and her husband Carl announce the birth of their daughter Emily Page, born on October 27, 1998.

David J. Madgwick '91 and wife Barbara are the proud parents of a son, Noah Hollar, born on December 16, 1997.

Lauren (Denker) Funk '93 and Michael J. Funk '91 proudly announce the birth of their baby girl. Lydia Leigh was born on January 12, 1998.

Jennifer (Murnyack) Garner '93 and John M. Garner '94 are happy to announce the birth of their daughter Hannah, born on December 6, 1997.

Trisha (Sholly) Casner '93 and husband Marc had a daughter, Ashley Nicole, on July 22, 1998. She weighed 1 lb. 11 ozs. and was 13 inches long. After an 83-day stay in the hospital, she is now home and doing well. She joins her brother Brandon, who is now 4.

Jessica (Foosse) Foster '98 and her husband Robert announce the birth of their baby boy, Kevin Linn, on September 29, 1998. He weighed 7 lbs. 14 ozs. and was 19 3/4 inches long.

1929 Arthur L. Rairigh – December 29, 1996.

1930 Grace E. Dick – September 17, 1998. Grace was a teacher in both elementary and high school levels in Indiana County, Pa. and in N.J. She was also a biology teacher at Temple University in Philadelphia. She attended New York University and Massachusetts Institute of Technology through a Westinghouse Fellowship. Grace served in World War II as a first lieutenant in the Women's Army Corps. Grace was a member of the American Legion Post 12, where she became the first woman officer. Surviving are one brother, three sisters, ten nieces and nephews, 24 grandnieces and nephews, and 26 great-grandnieces and nephews.

1930 E. Jane Miller – October 31, 1998. Jane taught school at Riverbend School in Athol, Mass. and Conrad High School and Hall High School in West Hartford, Mass. She was very active in Girl Scouts and a teacher for the Braille Association. Surviving are a sister, three nephews, and nine grandnieces and nephews.

1931 Catherine (Roberts) Bard – October 14, 1998. Catherine achieved a degree in library science, served as assistant librarian at Juniata College, and was the first librarian of the Huntingdon County Library. She developed an association and lifetime interest in Child Evangelism Fellowship and was part of a group that started Bethel Bible School in Quebec, Canada. Catherine also founded Emissions Porte-Parole (a recording studio), Bethesda (a retirement home), and produced a French Radio Program Ministry. She was married to the late Sheldon L. Bard Sr. '33. Catherine is survived by her son, Sheldon L. Bard Jr. '65, Huntingdon, Pa, three grandchildren, and ten great-grandchildren.

1933 Kathryn C. Mattern – November 4, 1998. Kathryn taught at West Beaver Township, Huntingdon High School, and West Snyder High School. She was president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs, organist and choir director of Trinity Lutheran Church, and served on the Central Pennsylvania Syndical Board of Lutheran Church Women. Kathryn was a past Worthy Grand Matron, Order of Eastern Star Lodge #222, and a member of the Standing Stone Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She was honored "Citizen of the Year" in McClure, Pa. by Post 942 of the American Legion. She is survived by her brothers, Robert W. Corcelius and A. Lynn Corcelius '38, and numerous nieces and nephews.

1935 A. Pauline Stoner – July 14, 1998. Pauline worked as a secretary for Landis Machine Company and G.M. Stickler. She was a member of Evangelical Lutheran Church and volunteered at Gettysburg Lutheran Home.

1935 Edward R. Barclay – September 28, 1998. Edward was a former elementary school teacher and retired as an insurance salesman for Travelers Insurance Company in Philadelphia, Pa. He served as the director of the Philadelphia Association for Retarded Citizens and was a member of the B.P.O.E. Lodge #1557, New Smyrna Beach and the New Smyrna Beach Christian Church. He is survived by his wife Phyllis, a son, four step-daughters, five grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

1936 Rev. John D. Long – November 6, 1998. John served as pastor of the Lancaster Church of the Brethren in Lancaster, Pa. for 24 years. He was a delegate to the Church of the Brethren District and served as district moderator and member of the General Board for five years. Surviving are wife Inez, a daughter, a son, and five grandchildren. Also surviving are two brothers and two sisters.

1938 Hugh B. Garner – August 5, 1998.

1939 Evelyn (Hood) Patterson – October 25, 1998. Evelyn served as a deacon at the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant. She was also a junior board member of the Medical Center of Delaware from 1981-1998. She was a home economics teacher at Mt. Pleasant High School and Fox Memorial School in Everett, where she also coached girls' basketball. Evelyn is survived by her husband, G. Harold Patterson '39, a son, a daughter and a sister.

1940 Caroline (Snider) Berkeley – June 3, 1998.

1940 Rev. Dean I. Walter – July 26, 1998. Dean retired as a chemist from the Naval Research Laboratories in Washington, D.C. He served as pastor of the Vicksburg Grace Brethren Church, Brooks Mills, Pa. and the Clinton Grace Brethren Church, Clinton, Md. He is survived by wife Peggy (Greenleaf) Walter, a daughter, a son, and a sister.

PEOPLE ARE TALKING about the Juniata E-mail Newsgroup!

"This is the best thing I've done in ages!"

"I've gotten great information from the
E-mail Newsgroup.
Thanks!"

"Love the E-mail Newsgroup."

Sign up now. E-mail Jodie Monger Gray '88, drgray@erols.com

1941 Lois (Snader) Hoffman – September 1998.

1942 Kathryn K. Miller – June 13, 1997.

1942 Dr. Harold R. Widdowson – August 15, 1998. Harold was an anesthesiologist with Lewis Hitchner Anesthesia Associates in Crozer Hospital, Chester, Pa. He retired in 1981. He is survived by his wife Mary M. Widdowson, nine children, three grandchildren, and one great grand-daughter.

1943 Fredrick E. Musser – July 1, 1998.

1949 C. Matthew Hiney – August 24, 1998. Mr. Hiney was a member of the Trinity United Methodist Church, Roaring Spring, Pa. He retired as a teacher from the Hollidaysburg Area School District in Hollidaysburg, Pa. Previously, he served as principal at the Frankstown Elementary School and as audiovisual coordinator for the Hollidaysburg Area School District. He was also a veteran of World War II. Surviving are a daughter, a son, a sister, and three grandchildren.

1949 Judy (Nicely) Mierski – March 8, 1998.

1950 Robert E. Lowry – July 27, 1998. Bob was president of Rymer Pontiac Buick GMC Trucks at Halifax, Pa. He served on the Board of Directors of the Fulton County Medical Center. He is survived by his wife Elsie B. Lowry '51 and three children; Susan (Lowry) Hare '75, Sharon L. Lally, and Cameron L. Lowry.

1953 Col. John G. Kisel – October 16, 1998. John served in the Army Medical Service Corps for 28 years. After retirement, he privately practiced as a clinical social worker for the Adult-Parent-Child Consultation. He is survived by wife Kaydonna (Bubeck) '55, four sons, six grandchildren, and seven nieces and nephews.

1964 Barbara (Golden) Laubscher – October 27, 1998. Barbara was an elementary school teacher and study-skills instructor at the Sylvan Learning Center in Montgomeryville, Pa., worked as a substitute teacher for the North Penn School District, and had taught home-bound students. She is survived by her husband William A. Laubscher, two sons, and mother.

1981 Thomas E. Wilson

1992 Bonita (Knott) Norris – November 16, 1998. Bonita, a student of the Holocaust, studied abroad at both the Dachau and Mauthausen concentration camps in Germany to share her knowledge for curriculum use. She also received the "Brace for an Ace" Award in 1963 by the former Huntingdon Chapter of the Easter Seals Society for volunteering speech therapy for youth who have disabilities. Bonita recently resigned as the in-service coordinator at Tuscarora Intermediate Unit #11. She is survived by her husband Edward, two daughters, one stepson, and parents.

THE JUNIATA COLLEGE CONCERT CHOIR
IS FLYING TO CALIFORNIA IN MARCH OF 2000 FOR CHOIR TOUR. SEE YOU THERE!
If you are interested in arranging a concert in your area, please contact:
Russ Shelley (814) 641-3473
shelley@juniata.edu

ON THE ROAD WITH THE ALUMNI

Huntingdon Area Meet the President and Season Kick-off Brunch September 12, 1998

Twenty-eight alumni and friends joined for brunch and the opportunity to meet President Tom Kepple and his wife, Pat. Dr. Kepple shared his vision for Juniata, followed by the coaches' season pre-views.

New York City Gathering, "Networking in New York" September 15, 1998

Thirty alumni and staff enjoyed a social time with beverages and hors d'oeuvres at New York City's University Club. The event provided information about volunteering and networking with Juniata's Alumni Career Team (ACT). Special guests were new President, Dr. Tom Kepple, and his wife, Pat, and newly retired professors, Ron and Betty Ann Cherry. It was a memorable evening to chat with administrators, the Cherrys, and Juniatics from the metropolitan area. Thanks to Jack Warfield '66 for helping to organize this event.

Legacy Appreciation Reception September 26, 1998

The Alumni Association hosted generations of Juniatics at a reception on campus during Family Weekend. Parents, grandparents, and alumni joined their student relatives for the event. Eleven families, represented by 25 alumni and students, were welcomed by 19 Alumni Council members and Director of Alumni, Lynanne Schaeffer '83.

Blair-Bedford-Huntingdon Pig Roast October 11, 1998

Bert Altmanshofer '81 hosted about 160 alumni and families, students, prospective students, and staff at the home of Dottie '50 and Rex '50 Hershberger. Everyone "pigged out" on roast pork and an accompanying buffet and enjoyed wonderful fall weather with old friends and new. A spectacular sunset closed a spectacular day. Thanks Bert, Rex and Dottie!

A Mysterious Affair October 16, 1998

The Alumni Association hosted 18 alumni and guests for a dessert reception, historical detection, and discussion at the Holiday Inn, Bethlehem, PA. Featured was Dr. Hsiung's open discussion of "A Mysterious Affair: The Naval Battle of the Spanish-American War." The battle will appear in Dr. Hsiung's new freshman seminar course, "American Mysteries: The Historian as Detective."

Stagg Bowl 25th Reunion and Juniata Sports Hall of Fame October 16-17, 1998

More than 160 people gathered throughout the weekend to honor excellence in athletics. J-Club celebrated the 25th anniversary of the 1973 Stagg Bowl win with a special golf outing and reception. The Saturday dinner recognized the Class of 1998 Sports Hall of Fame Inductees: Beth (Hoppel) Barnett '88, Aldo Bonomi '50, Lou Eckerl '74, Bill Germann '49, Cathy (Miller) Gilkey '88, Susan Grubb '88, Stuart Jackson '77, Nancy (Harden) Latimore (former coach), John Staley '57, Bob Waggoner '73, and George Weaver '38. Thanks to Joe Scialabba '86, Hall of Fame Committee, and staff members for organizing this impressive weekend.

Alumni Men's Basketball January 16, 1999

Twenty-two alumni gathered for a men's alumni basketball game, followed by lunch, in the Kennedy Sports+Recreation Center on campus. After lunch they cheered on JC's women's and men's teams against Moravian. An informal get-together at the Days Inn finished off the day.

Philadelphia Area Kick-off Event November 15

In an effort to kick off a new regional group, a small number of Philadelphia area alumni met at the Philadelphia Museum of Art. Twelve people toured the museum and discussed event ideas over lunch. Thanks to Ty Furman '90 and Karen Beck '93 for helping to organize this event.

"A Musical Feast" Traditional Madrigal Evening December 11 and 12, 1998

Alumni and friends shared magical merriment at Juniata's Department of Music's

"I met a Juniata alum in the most unusual place."

During the summer of 1993, my husband, Bruce, and I were travelling in Scandinavia with Lauren, Brooke, and Andrew, our children. One afternoon we visited a candy shop in a tiny village on the outskirts of Oslo, Norway. Although the majority of Norwegians speak English beautifully, it became apparent to us that the shopkeeper was American. Our conversation naturally turned to our hometowns. She said that she was from Pennsylvania, "a tiny town that you have never heard of." The town, of course, was Huntingdon and she, too, had attended Juniata! She and her husband, a native of Norway, have their home and business in the Oslo area.

—Barbara (Boden) Martin '74

My husband, Steve, and I were awaiting the subway in Paris listening to a young woman sing a song by Jewel. When the train arrived we started talking. She mentioned she was from Pennsylvania and I said I had graduated from Juniata. . . so had this young woman! While she had graduated in 1995 and I in 1983, we discovered we were both education majors and had participated in the Brethren Colleges Abroad (BCA) program. While I am deplorable at remembering names, and this young woman's name escapes me, I was reminded of the small college I left behind fifteen years ago and how, from time to time, someone or something from Juniata will turn up in all of our lives to keep us from forgetting. — Beth-Ann (Reuther) Lico '83

A funny thing happened recently. I administered an employee contest for First Union which gave away Monday Night Football tickets and trips. 80,000 employees were involved. One winner, Susan Davis, was from Lancaster. She called me for details. When I mentioned I was from Pennsylvania, she started asking questions like, "Where did you go to college?" I told her Juniata College and she said, "Joel Ranck, this is Sue Williams. (Susan Williams Davis '90) We graduated together." What are the odds of two people from a 200 strong graduating class meeting up via a contest with 80,000 participants and five winners? I am still stunned. I think it's that JC Magic. — Joel G. Ranck '90

On October 27, I went into labor and my doctor wasn't on call. Instead, Dr. Lance Radbill arrived to perform the surgery. While I had met Dr. Radbill once during my pregnancy, the meeting had been brief.

Jennifer (Myers) Haga '91 and newborn son, being held by Dr. Lance Radbill '71.

While on the operating table, I said that it was odd that our son was a native Texan and this baby would be a native Alabamian, while my husband and I were from Pennsylvania. He asked us where in Pennsylvania, and we said Central PA, near Williamsport. He said he was familiar with the area, he had gone to Juniata College. Circumstances as they were, I asked him if I had heard him right. He said I had, and I told him I too was a Juniata graduate. Dr. Lance Radbill graduated from Juniata in 1971.

— Jennifer (Myers) Haga '91

A very memorable and enriching part of my experience at Juniata is the year I spent studying overseas in Muenster, Germany. I was very excited about how much I felt like a member of the German society, communicating and functioning effectively in a foreign culture. Ever since then, I have considered Germany to be another home away from home (like Huntingdon, in a very theoretical sort of way). I had an opportunity to go back this past August, and wanted to visit some Juniata friends.

The first stop was Munich. There I met up with Klaus Buckendahl, who studied at JC from 1992-93. We had a nice dinner in the Ratskeller (town hall restaurant) and then walked up and down the Fussgaengerzone (pedestrian area). He also took us on an extensive tour of Munich by car.

When scanning through the e-mail IDs in Jodie's News Group list, I saw Carolyn S. Lampe's '89 name that has ".de" at the end (which denotes Germany.) I thought I'd write to her and see what her connection is with Juniata. She lives in Koeln and was an exchange student at JC. She's now working on her master's degree at the University. She was able to meet us for lunch when we arrived in Koeln later in our trip. She also walked with us through the city and then suggested that we eat at a "typical" restaurant that served Koeln's signature brew, Koelsh beer.

On the way home, I saw Lia L. Meyer '94 in the Pittsburgh airport! We were both in line for "smashed potatoes" in the food court, and just happened to look at and recognize each other — we know each other from marching band! — Karen V. Beck '93

The summer after I graduated, I went to China to visit my sister who was enrolled at the time at the Nanjing — Johns Hopkins University for Chinese and American studies. There she introduced me to Eric T. Miller '90, one of her friends who was enrolled in the same program. I was on the other side of the globe and this guy was a fellow Juniatian! I can't find people at home who have heard of Juniata, much less know where it is. Eric is currently pursuing a Ph.D. in anthropology at Pittsburgh University.

— Erik P. DuMont '97

Karen V. Beck '93 with Klaus Buckendahl who studied at JC from 1992-93.

Send your story to Lynanne Schaeffer mail: Juniata College, 1700 Moore St, Huntingdon, PA 16652

fax: 814-641-3127

email: alumni@juniata.edu

On the road to medical school, a fortunate detour

It led a Juniata biology grad to an area transplant program. Twenty years later, he is still seeing that donors and those in need connect.

Seemingly ordinary doors can lead to extraordinary places. Just ask Howard M. Nathan.

Answering a classified ad 20 years ago — “quite by accident,” Nathan recalled — he discovered his mission. The ad was for a coordinator for the Delaware Valley Transplant Program.

Since its founding in 1974, the program has coordinated more than 10,000 organ and tissue transplants, including kidneys, hearts, livers, lungs, bone, ligaments and corneas, and become one of the largest organ-donor programs in the United States.

But in 1978, it was a fledgling agency operating from a shared office on a shoestring budget.

“It was still the dawn of time for organ procurement,” recalled Stephen Sammut, then program director and the man who hired Nathan.

When Nathan chanced upon the coordinator’s job, he wanted it so much he took it as an unpaid volunteer for the first few months.

He had graduated from Juniata College in 1975 with a biology degree and worked in a research institute, running an electron microscope and preparing cultures. That job, he said, didn’t satisfy his need to work with people.

He also attended graduate school. “I was sort of disillusioned with that,” he recalled.

Then there was that classified ad.

“I really never knew what I was getting into,” said Nathan, 43, of Haverford Township, “I thought I would work for this job maybe a year or two.” It would be an impressive resume entry, he thought, when he pursued medical school, his real goal.

Nathan was swept up quickly in the grueling, heartrending, elating task of helping cobble together miracles by coordinating transplants.

A coordinator arranges donations, getting consent from the donor’s family and orchestrating the surgical team’s arrival at the hospital to recover the organ. In the past, coordinators often were shown dashing between flights, gripping Igloo coolers containing kidneys.

“Once you get into this whole epic of life and death, it hooks you,” Nathan said. “That’s probably why I’m not married. I basically used every day over the last 20 years focusing on this.”

Sammut said he left the program in 1983, burned out. It was about then that drug treatment to prevent organ rejection was making more transplants feasible and creating the need for far-reaching procurement efforts.

“It was an incredibly demanding period. It was not uncommon for people to work 80- to 100-hour weeks,” recalled Sammut, a Wynnewood resident now with a start-up biotechnology firm.

Nathan became executive director in 1984 and took on the task of trying to meet an escalating need for organs.

The agency, with Nathan in the lead, pushed for passage of state legislation to encourage organ donation by, among other things, requiring hospitals to notify procurement agencies of deaths. The legislation, passed in December 1994, is credited with generating a 26 percent increase in donations in the last two years.

During his tenure, the staff has grown roughly sixfold, to about 70 employees.

Today the regional transplant program serves as a bridge between the 12 regional hospitals where transplants are done and a network of 160 acute-care hospitals that cooperate in procurement efforts. Its territory includes Delaware, the eastern half of Pennsylvania and the southern half of New Jersey.

Nathan said his workdays were still long, though he finds time to work on his twin house in Haverford Township. He also indulges his dog, Patches, a terrier-Dalmatian mix, with romps on the Main Line’s leafy byways.

Instead of carrying kidneys in a cooler, Nathan carries his message about transplants to all who will listen. He does this relentlessly, no matter whether his audience is an auditorium of surgeons or viewers of the Geraldo Show.

He helped craft the Coalition on Donation’s “Share Your Life” public relations campaign, using spokesman Michael Jordan. He has plans for a Transplant Family House, modeled on the Ronald McDonald House concept.

“I see my job as a teacher, to make sure people understand that this is a good thing,” he said.

A recipient of numerous service awards, Nathan also is active as an officer or board member of enough organ-donation organizations to fill a typewritten page.

“We would not be where we are without him,” said Howard J. Eisen, medical director of the heart-transplant program at Temple University Hospital. “I would say the Delaware Valley Transplant Program is the most efficient organ-procurement program in the country.”

Its mission hit home for Nathan two years ago, when his sister, suffering a rare liver disease, received a transplant.

“My sister got a liver...because the system worked. I was sitting in the waiting room, like everyone else,” Nathan said.

He also tries to serve as a mentor for young transplant coordinators. “When people die, we can’t change that,” he tells them. “What you can do is make a difference in somebody else’s life.”

—Mary Blakinger is a correspondent for the Philadelphia Inquirer. This article was published on Sunday, August 31, 1997.

Worth B. Stattenmyer Collection

The Juniata College Museum of Art

To receive information on the following:

- Permanent Collection
- Exhibitions
- Invitations to Special Events
- Museum Activities

Please provide us with your name and mailing address. You may send the information to the Juniata College Museum, 17th & Moore Streets, Huntingdon, PA 16652 or E-mail at earenfight@juniata.edu. When you are away from campus, visit us at www.juniata.edu/museum

Visit the Alumni Website

- Keep in touch with classmates and friends by email, find their address on the web at juniata.edu/alumni/intouch.htm
- Submit classnotes online
- Register for Regional Events and view Homecoming information at juniata.edu/alumni/events.htm
- And more!

Juniata College Alumni & Friends Tours

Bermuda

November 1999

Contact: Volker Molt
800-322-5080

Christmas in Bavaria

December 3 - 11, 1999

Hosts: Dr. & Mrs. Kepple
Contact: Volker Molt
800-322-5080

Holland - Belgium France - Germany Including Oberammergau Passionplay

$3,460 • June 11 - 26, 2000

Hosts: Dr. & Mrs. Kepple

$ 3,600 • Sept. 16 - Oct 1, 2000

Hosts: Dr. & Mrs. Neff

Contact: Volker Molt 800-322-5080

Washington DC area event achieves a large turn-out!

A large group turned-out on January 23, 1999 for "Almost Absolute Zero: The Story of Laser Cooling and Trapping," a lecture by Dr. William D. Phillips, 1970 Juniata College graduate and 1997 Nobel Physics Prize recipient.

Alumni from 1939 through 1998, friends, local high school teachers, parents of students, current students and prospective students all gathered in Gaithersburg, Md. to meet Dr. Phillips and hear the story of researching laser cooling and trapping. Over 140 people gathered for this reception and lecture.

Dr. Phillips generously shared his time and knowledge with everyone. He spoke of the positive impact on his life that occurred as an undergraduate student at Juniata College. He firmly believes that those 4 years on our campus shaped who he is today as a person.

It was a wonderfully informative lecture, mixed with humor and interesting science exhibits, delivered on a level that non-scientists could understand.

Harriet Michel featured in TIME

Since graduating from Juniata College in 1965, Harriet Michel has become a noted administrator and public policy expert on minority issues. Since 1988, she has served as the president of the National Minority Supplier Development Council.

When Time magazine featured a business report on the number of thriving minority businesses last fall, Ms. Michel and her organization were featured as examples of how minorities are making their mark in the business world.

Time reporter, Ron Stodghill II, wrote: For the past decade, Big Business has been pushing aggressively to respond to changing demographics in the marketplace. Indeed, corporations are increasingly targeting predominantly African-American, Latino and Asian urban areas as well as ethnic markets overseas, experts say.

Ms. Michel, who was pictured, was quoted in the Time article, saying, "It's a business imperative for many companies if they want to retain or expand their market share."

Stodghill then wrote: Michel's organization is proof of the new ways that minority business has woven itself into the American tapestry. It is funded by more than 250 major corporations to foster links between private purchasers and minority suppliers. For the past several years, council officials have reported growing commitments from many FORTUNE 500 companies, including JCPenney, K Mart and Sears Roebuck, which helped drive purchases from minority businesses to more than $33.4 billion last year, up from $86 million when the council was founded 26 years ago. Even more important, corporations have upped their minority share of procurement spending from once token amounts to between 3% and 5% of their overall purchasing budgets. With increased spending has come increased respect. Last month nine of General Motors' 620 minority suppliers were honored as Suppliers of the Year by the company's worldwide purchasing organization.

Before joining the National Minority Supplier Development Council in September 1988, Ms. Michel was a resident fellow at the Institute of Politics, Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University, where she taught a course on politics and public policy issues and wrote on the topic of black leadership.

From 1983 to February 1988, Ms. Michel was president and chief executive officer of the New York Urban League. As chief administrator, she was responsible for services provided to over 70,000 New Yorkers annually through more than 20 programs of education, employment, health and social services and housing. She was the first woman to head the New York Urban League, the largest of the National Urban League's 113 affiliates.

After establishing the Women Against Crime Foundation at John Jay College of Criminal Justice in 1981, Ms. Michel served as consultant to United States Department of Housing and Urban Labor Development.

Ms. Michel had been the director of the United States Department of Labor's Office of Community Youth Employment Programs/CETA from 1977 to 1979, where she supervised the allocation of $2 billion for employment and training programs. From 1972 to 1977, she served as executive director of the New York Foundation. She is a founding member of the Association of Black Foundation Executives and has served on the Board of the Council of Foundations.

A member of the Juniata College board of trustees since 1989, Ms. Michel is the recipient of numerous awards and citations, including being honored by Black Opinion magazine as the 1990 "Woman of the Year." In May 1990, she was honored by the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith as its first "Woman on the Move" award recipient. In January 1989, she was the subject of a cover story on "Women Who Make a Difference" for Minorities and Women in Business magazine. In 1987, she was selected as one of 50 "Outstanding International Business and Professional Women" by Dollars and Sense magazine.

New business imperative: the National Minority Supplier Development Council's Harriet Michel

Mario Ruiz for Time

JC

What's happening at Homecoming
Don't miss out on the action!

Friday, Oct. 8
Artist Series: David Leonard Jazz group

Saturday, Oct. 9
Math & Computer Science reunion
English, Communications, Theater Arts reunion
Environmental Science reunion • Chemistry reunion
Dedication of new Soccer and Field Hockey fields
Tour of Campus Improvements
All Alumni & J-Club Brunch • Career Services Seminar
Lots of home athletic games to watch • JC football vs. Susquehanna

Sunday, Oct. 10
17th Annual Alumni Soccer Match

the
Z
H
O
J

F U N

All Alumni & Friends are encouraged to attend events
around the world!

June 13Central Pa. PicnicYork, Pa.

June 13-20Whitewater rafting on the Green RiverUtah

July 17A Juniata Day with the Baltimore Orioles

Baltimore, Md.

July 28Hershey GolfHershey, Pa.
Hershey Country Club

August 6Pittsburgh GolfNew Kensington, PA
Hillcrest Country Club

September 24-26Family WeekendJuniata College

October 8-10Homecoming WeekendJuniata College

Please join us.
Contact the Alumni Office
(814) 641-3440
alumni@juniata.edu or go to www.juniata.edu/alumni/calendar.htm
for event details and registration forms.

Alumni Events
TOLL-FREE HOTLINE
877-JUNIATA ext:2 option:4
(586-4282)

Senior Play, February 1908

Then & Now

Fall production, "The Sympathetic Weight of Bones," November 1998

OFFICE OF COLLEGE ADVANCEMENT
1700 MOORE STREET, HUNTINGDON, PA 16652-2196

Juniata
COLLEGE

WWW.JUNIATA.EDU

NON PROFIT ORG.
U.S. POSTAGE PAID
HUNTINGDON, PA
PERMIT NO. 39